PREFACE

Dana A. Batchelder set out to compile and publish a genealogy on the Fall family in 1999. His intention was to donate copies of the book to libraries where he conducted his research and to gift copies to individuals who contributed information and or who were interested in the Fall family.

He was able to complete most of the necessary research prior to his death in July of 2002 at age 82. Since the book project represented Dana A. Batchelder's reverence for family history, the able services of Melinde Lutz Sanborn were engaged to finish assembling this genealogy.

Please accept this book with our compliments.

INTRODUCTION

In July of 2002, after years of painstaking genealogical research, Dana Batchelder rested from his labors. He left behind a legacy of persistence and precision in his creation, The Descendants of John Fall of Berwick, Maine.

Not yet computerized, his careful notes comprised over sixteen linear feet of manuscript. His patient letters to town clerks and military archivists, his faithful correspondence, his hopeful letters sent to churches and local historians, filled hundreds of carefully labeled files. A record of expenses kept almost from the beginning harkens back to a day when a stamp cost only six cents and a copy of a vital record might be just a dollar.

The completeness of his record-keeping defies ordinary description. In tackling the many puzzling mysteries presented by erratic records and contradictory evidence, Dana's methodical notes narrate his every step and ultimate conclusion. Very few connections eluded him, and those that did leave a model of thorough research for the next hands to build upon.

Alongside his research notes are numerous contributions from family, professionals and new friends. On the edges of many of his logs are quick notes, "please look for this...," "a copy of these pages...." His constant partner and wife, Lillian Eldridge Batchelder, helped in countless ways.

For decades, Dana and Lillian were frequent patrons at all the great libraries and archives in northern New England. And where these libraries could not extend, Dana's letters would reach out for wandering records. His carbon copied letters, carefully filed and often stapled to the desired replies, just as often sport brief notations, "No answer January 1989," "No answer January 1990," "No answer January 1991."

Many interested relatives and genealogists across the country wrote in reply to Dana's queries. Bernice Brown, Ellie Harte, Helen R. Dooley, Marjorie Blood, Frederick R. Boyle, Phyllis Moore, Daniel H. Burrows, Louise Gower Worster, Alan G. Fall, Miriam Palmer, Bobbie E. Shorey, Ruth H. Green, Ed Gerrish, Lawrence A. Miner, Jean Brown, Sally Hilton, Paul M. Meader, Doris E. Woodman, Nancy Waterhouse, Merrie Haynes, David Emerson, Randy Wall and Robert Laws contributed stories, photographs and information. Since his passing, Dana's research has reached even more enthusiastic Fall genealogists who have contributed to this work, including Judith Bauer, Courtney Boyd-Fall, and Shirley Redden.

No complete work on the Fall family had been attempted before Dana turned his attention to his grandmother Lilla's family. Decades ago, when he began the effort, he clearly intended to follow those who bore the surname, so it is not unusual to see references to the compiled work of others in the lines of the Fall daughters. Often these other surname lines are incomplete or missing references, evidence that his focus was on tracing the men.

Dana's manuscript on the Fall family was not complete when he died. Just a few mysteries refused to be solved, and only a few early Falls eluded him. In many lines in distant places, Dana was still in the process of gathering information, so the omission of a family or individual is only evidence of the endless nature of this research.

One particularly difficult descendant, Daniel Falls, is the subject of an appendix for just this reason. Numerous Fall immigrants not related to John of Berwick are also treated in the appendix called "Others."

Tireless research netted quite a few living Falls, but out of respect for personal privacy, living descendants and their spouses are named but no dates and places are included, and their living descendants are not included here. Hundreds of living Fall descendants may be found in the Fall manuscripts kept by Dana's family.

FALL

The Fall family of northern New England is difficult to trace, leaving brief and unconnected splashes in the coastal waters off Strawberry Bank, Kittery and Charlestown.

Historian and genealogist James Savage mentions a John Fall of Swanzey who was killed "probably by the Indians" and was buried 24 June 1675.[1] Savage's competitor, John Pope, found no members of the Fall family to include in his Pioneers book,[2] and the late bibliographer Meredith Colket, F.A.S.G., found no notable genealogies of any Fall progenitors.[3]

In 1903, Henry Lord's manuscript, The Family of Fall, contained the first attempt at a detailed genealogy of New England's Fall family. Several local histories for Maine towns contributed paragraphs on long-time Fall residents, but no comprehensive effort to treat the family, particularly the early generations, appeared until after WW I.

In the 1920s, as a result of decades of research, Sybil Noyes, Charles Thornton Libby and Walter Goodwin Davis, began to publish their abstracts of records pertaining to all families present in northern New England prior to 1699. They found enough about a Jersey mariner named Philip Fall to dedicate thirteen lines to him, his possible wife, and a likely son, John Fall.[4]

After pouring over these fragments, Dana Batchelder analyzed the situation and concluded that even in the basic matter of immigrant Philip Fall's wife, prior authorities were wrong. In a letter to correspondent Helen R. Dooley, dated 15 December 1990, he wrote:

Although GDMNH also suggests that Elizabeth Fall alias Elizabeth Basson/Bisson may have been the wife of Philip, The Essex Antiquarian April 1904 8:2 indicates Elizabeth Fall married

John Bisson, which I later learned from correspondence with the Channel Islands, 12 September 1644. Their son Joshua was born in 1652. Since Philip Fall was born about 1649, it would appear that Elizabeth is of an earlier generation and could be 20 to 25 years older than Philip. The aforementioned source also suggests that John Bisson and his wife, Elizabeth, did not come to America.

The only reasons for suggesting that Elizabeth Basson was the wife of Philip Fall seem to be the rarity of the name and the proximity of the families. Both the Falls and the Bassons were from the Isle of Jersey and ended up on the northern coast of New England. Given the discrepancies in their ages, if Philip had children, Elizabeth simply could not be their mother.

The problem remains whether Philip Fall was an unmarried mariner who left no children on New England's shores, or the father of one or more of the Fall men in Berwick and Charlestown. Descent from John Fall of Berwick is strongly supported by records, but even the earliest family traditions about John's father are tainted with early, unproven suggestions by writers such as Libby, Noyes and Davis. For example, the following newspaper article, published some time after 1900:

The Fall Family
Great Grandfather Eli Fall Built Stone Wall at Night While Wife Held Lantern

By Eva Blake Loud

The first of the family name of Fall to come to AMERICA was PHILIP FALL, born in 1649. He came from the Island of Jersey, probably St. Savior's Parish to Portsmouth, N.H. He lived in Portsmouth from 1669 to 1692. He was a mariner and on board the ship SUCCESS January 15, 1684-5. His wife, Elizabeth Basson of Beverly, Mass., died Nov. 1702.

JOHN FALL, a son of Philip was one of the first settlers in Berwick, Maine and lived on Pine Hill. John's son TRUSTAM was born in Berwick but moved to Lebanon, Maine soon after his marriage. He had six children, one of whom was EBENEZER.

EBENEZER was the father of TRISTAM, born October 1 1775, who was the first settler of the family name of FALL to come to OSSIPEE, N.H. He cleared the farm and built the house now owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Newhall of Malden, Mass., which is described in the CARROLL COUNTY HISTORY as "over the hill on the road from Ossipee Corner to Garland's Mills." This was before 1802 when the first inventory of the town was made.

Soon after, OTIS brother of Tristam, came to Ossipee to live. He established a home on land adjoining this brother and this place was known later as the John Fall farm. Otis married Elizabeth Pierce 22 June 1809 and brought his bride to Ossipee on horseback. They followed the road through Brookfield, Dimond Corner, now North Wolfeboro, to Ossipee. Part of this highway was the Governor Wentworth road but when they reached Ossipee they followed a blazed trail. Otis and his wife are buried in the Fall cemetery on Spring Tavern Hill in the Hackney section of Ossipee.

ELI, son of Otis and Elizabeth was born in Ossipee 28 November 1817. He was the first of my direct family to be born in this town. On 6 February 1840 he married Eliza Knowles and during the same year they built the "Red House" which is now the summer home of Mr. John Hoppin of New Jersey. In 1855 he sold it to his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson and bought the Babb place now the home of Mr. Souther. In 1879 Eli Fall repurchased the "Red House" and lived there until he sold it about 1900. Most of the stone wall near the house was built at night while my great-grandmother held a lantern for her husband to work by.

FRANK SUMNER, one of the four children of Eli and Eliza was born 11 November 1847 and died 30 June 1873. He married Emma Chick 28 March 1866 and they had two children who are living at the present time - ELI A. FALL of Wolfeboro, N.H. and MABEL FALL BLAKE of Center Ossipee.

Mrs. Mabel Blake has a daughter, Eva B. Loud and a grandson Edmund D'Arcy Loud who are living in Center Ossipee at the present time.[5]

It was not uncommon for this combination of fact and fancy to be presented as history. During the research for this book, this same clipping or information taken from it, was found in several distantly related branches of the family. The confusion such an account introduces into the mix is rarely outweighed by the accuracy of detail about contemporary generations at the time it is written.

It is clear from Dana Batchelder's notes that he believed there was no certain answer to the question of whether John Fall was the son of Philip Fall. The two men shared a rare surname, were close geographically, of the same economic class, and used the given name Philip in their families. In the forty years he labored over this book, Dana Batchelder's manuscript numbering system shows him on both sides of the issue. He would be convinced that there was no reason to suppose they were father and son, and then ponder the rarity of the name Philip, used by John for his sixth son.

In the end we conclude that it is more likely than not that Philip Fall, mariner and Jerseyman of Portsmouth, N.H., had no family in New England.

Unconnected Early Falls:

MATTHEW FALL, born say 1690s; married at King's Chapel, Boston, [blank] May 1729[6] ELIZABETH WELCH.

Matthew, who apparently lived in Charlestown where his children were baptized, is called "gone out of the country" in 1736 according to Wyman, who studied the early court records, deeds, town records and church records for this town.[7] In the 1736 court case, George Harrington, was his bondsman. Bondsmen were usually relatives, business associates, or men of considerable wealth who could take the risk of loaning money in such a situation.

Philip Fall, Jerseyman

PHILIP[1] FALL, born probably on the Isle of Jersey, about 1649[1]; living "of Jersey" in 1699[2]; no evidence that he ever married. No evidence that Elizabeth Basson was his wife as suggested by earlier writers.

From surviving records, we conclude that Philip[1] Fall was a mariner from the Isle of Jersey, who sailed extensively and who profited sufficiently to have an interest in the ownership of some of the vessels on which he sailed.

A search of Jersey records for a baby baptized in 1649 or thereabouts yielded two Philip Falles, one baptized at St. Saviour 17/5/1640, son of Edmond Falle, and one at St. Martin 15/10/1656, son of Thomas and Mary (Bisson) Falle.[3] Some of the records of the twelve parishes extant at Jersey between 1647 and 1660 are missing, and it is by no means certain that Philip was born and baptized on Jersey. Many families from Devonshire found their way to Jersey, and he could easily have been born there, yet still be described as a Jerseyman.

Philip Fall's earliest appearances in New England were in court records. He was mentioned in a 1669/70 deposition concerning Mary Nott, the thieving servant of Richard Cutt, who paid him 6s for a gold ring.[4]

On 28 April 1674, Philip Fall and John Shipeway witnessed the inventory of Nicholas Frost, recently deceased in Lymrick, Ireland.[5]

[3]Worked commissioned by Dana A. Batchelder in 1986, report dated 9 December 1986. It is not known if the report by M. De La Haye, a librarian at the Societe Jersiaise, used modern notation, i.e., the 5th month was May, or old style, the 5th month was July. The Mary Bisson in the second record may have been related to the family from whom stemmed Joshua Bisson/Basson/Bosson of Beverly, Mass.

[4] New Hampshire State Papers, Court Records, 40:263. A verdict for this case was handed down at a court commencing 28 June 1670.

[5]Maine Province and Court Records, 2:296.

Of Jersey in July 1677, Philip gave power of attorney to Joseph Hammond to recover a pair of shoe buckles from Samuel Clarke. Powers of attorney were usually used when a plaintiff could not come to court. No doubt, Philip Fall was at sea, or expected to be at sea, when the court sat. On 14 September 1678, Philip Fall received a settlement and the return of his stolen shoe buckles:

> Samuel Clarke being bownd over into this Court to answr for stealing of a paire of Silver shoe buckells from phillip Fall It being proved by Evedence put on file Sentence of Court to pay Treble damages vizt 10s mony & returne ye buckles & cost 10s[6]

Philip owned property at Portsmouth perhaps as early as 1681 when he was taxed at Strawbery Bank on 24 September 1681 as "Philip Founds," and certainly in 1688 as "Philip Fall," when he was taxed for 120 acres.[7]

Philip was called to appear in court on 5 September 1683 with Haskins, Potts, Monday, Pormutt, Crowder and Robson as "Philip the Jassem."

Robert Elliot's 1680-83 list of creditors for John Hinckes shows Philip Fall with Ellis Nichols, Hubord, John Brock, Philip Hatch and Robert Jordan, and others. These men were evidently shipmates, because Philip is mentioned as an officer on the ship Success:

> January 15, 1684[/5], as first officer of the ship Success, he [John Hatch] signed an endorsement on a court memorandum at Exeter, N.H., in which Matthew Estes, master of the ship, was bound in the sum of £500, before Richard Chamberlain, Justice of the Peace, "not [to] carry any persons in the sd ship out of the sd Province but such whose names shall first be entered in the Secretaries Office before the departure of the sd ship." This was endorsed on the back by the following officers:
> Nath: Estes, Mastr Jo: Hatch Phil: Fall Ja: Skeat Will Davis JA: Morintes
> Andr: Brock Geo: Tucker Will Brouse Sim: Mountes

Philip Fall deposed in Essex county 15 March 1691/2, aged 42 years.[8] In his final appearance, Philip Fall was named in the deposition of a fellow Jerseyman:

> 15th 1699 Amice Dauvergne of the Island of Jersey now resident at Boston in the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England Mariner, made Oath That the Ship Ann of the Island of Jersey afores[d] whereof he the sd Amice Dauvergne is at present Master, being a Square Sternd Vessel of the burthen of above one hundred and ten Tuns was built at Boston afores[d] in this present year 1699. And that Moses Corbet, James Corbet, Thomas Durell, Charles Poingdextre, Elias Dumaresque, Charles Hilgrove, Phillip Falle, Phillip Patriarche and Phillip Dauvergne all of Jersey afores[d] together with him the sd Amice Dauvergne are at present Owners thereof and that no Forreigner directly or indirectly hath any share or part or interest therein Sworen before his Ex[ll]cy the Earl of Bellomont & Laur Hammond DCollr[9]

First Generation

1. JOHN[1] FALL, born say 1680s; living "of Berwick" 1 August 1745 when he made his will[1]; married there 26 October 1710[2] JUDITH[3] HEARD, who survived him, daughter of Samuel and Experience (Otis) Heard.

No record of John Fall has been found predating 1710. His arrival in Maine is a mystery. He appears to have made his living as a husbandman, farming and raising livestock. John, and his wife Judith, made their mark to deeds, so it is likely that neither one could read or write.

The Heard family was the source of many of the children's names used by John and Judith. Son Samuel was named for Judith's father, son Tristram was named for Judith's uncle. Perhaps son Thomas was named for Judith's uncle, Thomas Austin. Daughter Margaret was named for Judith's aunt, a captive taken to Canada. This leaves Susanna, Zebedee and Philip as possible Fall names.

From the time of their marriage, the John Fall family was clearly connected to Berwick. Judith Fall was baptized as an adult at the Berwick First Church, 11 November 1711, along with her son, John.[3] The phrasing of the record makes it clear that Judith was the church member and not her husband, John. However, by the time of their next child's baptism, both John and Judith were named as the parents.[4]

John Fall may not have owned land until 18 May 1713, when he purchased from Bial Hamilton fifteen [or five] acres adjacent to Timothy Wentworth's land.[5] This property may have been his homestead. In that same year, 1713, John Fall first paid the modest town rate of 4s 6d in Berwick.[6]

On 11 April 1717, John Fall received four oxen from the estates of his father-in-law, Samuel Heard, and his brother-in-law, John Heard, as his wife Judith's inheritance.[7] John Fall made his very interesting mark to this document.

Despite this inheritance, on the rate list dated 9 February 1718/19, John Fall still paid a tax of just 4s.[8]

Perhaps the oxen made it possible to do more work because on 17 March 1721[/2?] John Fall was able to purchase eight acres of land in Berwick from Moses Wooster,[9] and on 15 May 1735, he purchased land in Berwick from John Wooster.[10]

On 8 July 1738, John Smith of Berwick, husbandman, and Elizabeth his wife, sold for £110 to John Fall, John Fall Jr., Samuel Fall and Tristram Fall, all of Berwick, husbandmen, one eighth part of a mill privilege at the upper falls at Salmon Falls in Dover, New Hampshire, excepting all rents due from the mill to the town of Dover.[11]

Over his lifetime, John Fall acquired a considerable amount of property, which he distributed equitably among his heirs in his will. This document shows that he had a thirty acre homestead, rights in a mill, and 150 acres in a right in a new township to be located above Berwick. Eldest son John received the homestead, younger sons Tristram, Zebedee and Philip, received portions of the 150 acre right, but second son Samuel received only a portion of the remaining right in the new township. Of all the sons, Samuel is the most poorly documented, and well before 1745 when his father wrote his will, Samuel had already been in court for debt. The answer may be that in his lifetime John Fall assisted his son Samuel with money, and consequently gave him less in his will.

> In the Name of God Amen. The first Day of August 1745, I John Fall of Berwick in the County of York in the Massachusetts Bay in N: E: Yeoman, being very Sick and weak in Body, but of perfect Mind and Memory, Thanks be given to God: therefore calling to Mind the Mortality of my Body, and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last Will and Testament; that is to Say, principally and first of all, I give and recommend my Soul into the Hands of God that gave it, and my Body I recommend to the Earth to be buried in decent Christian Burial at the Discretion of my Executors, Nothing doubting but at the General Resurrection I Shall receive the Same again by the mighty Power of God. 2. JOHN[2] FALL (John[1]), born in Berwick, Maine, 10 September 1711[1]; living 13 March 1748[/9?] "of Berwick" when he sold land,[2] but died before 2 September 1749 when his widow was appointed administratrix[3]; married first say 1733 LYDIA JONES, born say 1713, living 30 April 1745 when her last child was born, daughter of Samuel and Mary (Cross) Jones; married second as her first husband say 1746 MARY JONES, living 9 April 1759 when she made an account as administratrix of John Fall's estate,[4] and possibly living as late as 1766,[5] perhaps daughter of William Jones of Somersworth.[6]

Widow Mary married second between 17 October 1749[7] and 1 April 1751[8] Joseph Nock, born in Berwick, Maine, 12 November 1717, and had with him five children, surname Nock: Eleazer, Eleazer again, Sarah, Joseph, Mary, and Fall. A son, William, born in Berwick 28 December 1748 was probably the child of an earlier wife, since Mary was still widow Mary Fall in September 1749.[9]

On 1 December 1734, John Fall Jr. and his wife owned the covenant at Berwick's First Church, and their child Elizabeth was baptized.[10]

John "Faul" of Berwick, husbandman, was a defendant in York County Court, sued for debt at the October Term 1737.[11]

On 8 July 1738, John Smith of Berwick, husbandman, and Elizabeth his wife, sold for £110 to John Fall, John Fall Jr., Samuel Fall and Tristram Fall, all of Berwick, husbandmen, one eighth part of a mill privilege at the upper falls at Salmon Falls in Dover, New Hampshire, excepting all rents due from the mill to the town of Dover.[12]

On 8 December 1742, Samuel Lord of Berwick, gentleman, traded to John Fall Jr. of Berwick, husbandman, for several parcels of land and £6, a twenty-six acre lot in Berwick near John Fall's dwelling house.[13] Mary Fall witnessed this deed and made her mark, but Lord did not acknowledge it until 21 April 1760.

On 13 March 1748[/9?], John Fall of Berwick, yeoman, sold to Nathaniel Downs of Berwick, yeoman, 15 acres in Berwick, bounded by Cranberry Meadow Brook.[14]

On 2 September 1749, Mary Fall of Berwick, widow of John Fall, yeoman, was appointed administratrix of his estate and ordered to present an inventory of his goods, debts and credits on or before 2 March 1749[/50].[15]

During the 1750s, guardians were appointed for six of John and Lydia's children: John, Lydia and Mary, 2 April 1751; Judith and Joyce, 7 July 1752; and Elizabeth 12 July 1756.[16]

On 9 October 1756, Mary Nock, formerly Mary Fall, administratrix of the estate of John Fall Jr., late of Berwick, and Joseph Nock, her present husband, sold to William Jones of Somersworth, N.H., husbandman, thirty-three acres of land at "John Fall's upper place", twenty-six acres of which John Fall Jr. had purchased in his lifetime from Mr. Samuel Lord in 1742, the remaining part being land grants laid out to John Fall Jr.

In his will of 1 April 1758, Lydia's father Samuel Jones, made a bequest of £5 to be divided amongst his grandchildren, John Fall, Lydia Fall and Betty Fall, children of "my beloved daughter Lydia Fall lately deceased."[17]

On 10 July 1758, a division of the estate of John Fall, late of Berwick, deceased, was ordered by the court at the widow's request. One third was granted to his widow, now Mary Nock, and two thirds were divided among his children, John, Elizabeth, Lydia, Joyce and "Judah." Son John received all the real estate (excepting the widow's thirds), including "two days in a saw mill," two thirds of of £8, or arrest him on a charge of unpaid debt.[26] Samuel Fall purchased fifteen acres of land in what had been Kittery from Gilbert Warren on 28 March 1739.[27]

Samuel received a bequest from his father in his 1 August 1745 will, "all the Remainder of my Right in the new Township with the Appurtenances to enjoy in Severalty" with his brother John.[28] Unlike his brothers, Samuel did not receive a gift of land from his father's will, leading to the speculation that perhaps John Fall had helped his son financially in other ways during his lifetime.

On 6 December 1752, Samuel Fall of Berwick, husbandman, for £53.6.8 sold to Nathaniel Downs of Berwick, husbandman, fifteen acres of land in Berwick, which Samuel had purchased in 1739. Samuel's wife Mary relinquished her dower and although neither Samuel nor Mary appeared to acknowledge the deed, witness John Sullivan came to court on 12 July 1763 and stated that he had seen Samuel Fall sign the deed and that Samuel Fall was "since Dead."[29]

In his will of 1 April 1758, Samuel Jones of Somersworth, N.H., husbandman, bequeathed to "my beloved Daughter Abigail Fall" £5.[32] This token amount would indicate that he had given her the majority of her inheritance in his lifetime, possibly at the time of marriage in the form of household goods or cash.

Tristram Fall made his mark to all his deeds. On 8 July 1738, John Smith of Berwick, husbandman, and Elizabeth his wife, sold for £110 to John Fall, John Fall Jr., Samuel Fall and Tristram Fall, all of Berwick, husbandmen, one eighth part of a mill privilege at the upper falls at Salmon Falls in Dover, New Hampshire, excepting all rents due from the mill to the town of Dover.[33]

Tristram Fall received a bequest from his father of fifty acres of land in Berwick. On 12 July 1742, his received a ten acre grant adjoining this land.[34]

When his sons Tristram and Stephen enlisted for service in the French and Indian War, Tristram gave his permission.[35]

On 16 January 1762, Tristram Fall of Berwick, yeoman, purchased part of the land of Nathan Lord deceased from Hannah Kimball's heirs.[36] On 7 April 1769, Tristram Fall of Berwick, yeoman, mortgaged land "near my dwelling house" to Tilly Huggins of Berwick.[37] Although she was living at this date, Abigail did not participate in this mortgage.

On 19 February 1787, Tristram Fall quitclaimed land bequeathed to him at Lebanon by his father, to John Huggins.[38] This same day, John Huggins released the mortgage on fifty acres of land in Lebanon and on 30 December 1799 [sic] Tristram Fall of Lebanon sold it for $250 to Ebenezer Fall, calling it land "drawn to me from estate of my late honored father John Fall deceased which had formerly been mortgaged to John Huggin."[39]

In the 1771 Massachusetts Tax Valuation List for Berwick, Tristram Fall was rated for one poll, one house or shop, 16% of a mill, two oxen, three cattle, ten goats and sheep, one pig, ten acres of pasture capable of keeping three cows, five acres of tillage, forty bushels of grain produced each year, four barrels of cider produced per year, twelve acres of English and upland mowing land, ten tons of English and upland hay per year, two acres of fresh meadow, and two tons of fresh meadow hay produced per year.[40]

On 15 April 1805, Daniel Fall[41] of Berwick, mariner, was appointed administrator of the estate of Tristram Fall late deceased of Berwick, yeoman, with John and Benjamin Huggins sureties.[42]

On 17 June 1805, the inventory of the estate of Tristram Fall late of Berwick deceased, was taken and showed 55 acres of land valued at $965.[43]

Zebedee Fall owned the covenant at the First Church in Berwick on 10 January 1741/2.[52] Despite this and the baptism of their first child in the Berwick Church, Zebedee's wife is never named in these records.

In 1755, Zebedee signed a petition with other inhabitants of Newcastle, requesting that a militia company be raised for the protection of the community.[53] His autograph reads "Zebedia fall."

Zebedee served in the French and Indian Wars as a sentinel, first "scouting eastward" in Capt. Alexander Nichols' company 1 July through 25 November 1755[54] and then as a private Capt. William Miller's company in 1757.[55]

On 4 March 1757, Zebedee Fall and John Hushay wrote Ely Wright from Damariscotta, saying that most of the company of Capt. Russell had not received their allowance for the summer defense, and asking that he arrange for them to receive it from the commissary or some other way.[56]

Zebedee inherited fifty acres of land in Lebanon, Maine, from his father and sold this land on 10 June 1770, when he was a resident of Walpole, now South Bristol.[57] While living in Walpole, he sold several lots of land there between 1768-1785, in deeds which described his occupation as laborer or yeoman. In none of these deeds is he joined by a wife.

On 2 July 1768, he sold 125 acres in Walpole to James Noble, which he formerly purchased from James Noble.[58] On 26 June 1778, he sold another lot to Nathaniel Chapman of Walpole, measured in poles.[59] On 25 July 1778, he sold twenty six acres in Walpole to Samuel Rollings of Walpole.[60] On 20 May 1782, he sold one hundred acres in Walpole to Church Nash of Waldoborough.[61] On 25 August 1785, in his last appearance in any record, Zebedee of Walpole, sold about seventy acres in Walpole for £100 to David Dennis, gentleman.[62]

7. PHILIP[2] FALL (John[1]), baptized at Berwick First Church 1 February 1729/30[66]; burned to death in his house in Lebanon 8 December 1782[67]; married say 1749[68] ELIZABETH RICKER, born in Somersworth, N.H., about 1729,[69] died in Portsmouth, N.H., about 28 March 1806, aged 77 years,[70] daughter of George and Jemima (Busby) Ricker.

In the estate of his father, Philip Fall received £66 on 1 April 1751.[71]

Philip's military service spanned at least two years during the French and Indian Wars. On June 19th and June 23rd of 1756, he appeared on a list of Col. Plaisted's men going to Albany.[72] He was in camp at Fort William Henry on 7 August 1756, and was described as a resident of Somersworth, born in Berwick, a laborer, aged 25 years, a member of Capt. Holt's company, Col. Ichabod Plaisted's regiment.[73] He was still at Fort William Henry on 11 October 1756.[74] His muster roll entry, recorded at Boston 27 January 1757, states that he entered the service 1 June 1756 and served 27 weeks until 6 December 1756.[75]

On the march back from Lake George in 1756, Philip was fed one meal by innholder Benjamin Prescott Jr. (probably in Danvers), for which Prescott was paid in 1759.[76] Susanna Horr also victualled Capt. Holt's company, two meals each, sometime between 10 November 1756 and 8 January 1757, on their way back home from service.[77]

Philip served in the Crown Point Expedition during the French and Indian War, having entered the service 5 March 1757 as a private in a company commanded by Capt. John Titcomb, in Col. Nathaniel Meserve's regiment.[78] He was discharged 5 November 1757.[79]

Philip signed his name as a witness to the 1758 will of Samuel Jones of Somersworth, N.H.,[80] the father of the wives of two of Philip's brothers. Almost twenty years later, Philip proved the will on 11 May 1774, being one of only two surviving witnesses.

On 29 December 1762, Philip Fall of Somersworth, N.H., laborer, sold for £7 paid by Tilley Higgins of Berwick, Maine, trader, fifty acres in the new township at the head of Berwick, "it being the same Fifty Acres given to me by my Father John Fall Dece^{d} in his last Will," including all the timber.[81]

On 17 April 1769, George Ricker of Somersworth, N.H., bequeathed one cow to his daughter, Elizabeth Fall.[82]

Betty Fall swore to her deposition regarding the Revolutionary War service of her son, George Fall, on 27 September 1781.[83]

Philip's house stood on the main road from Great Falls and Berwick to West Lebanon, "near the Easterly end of Furbush Bridge, and this house was burned on the eight day of December AD 1782 and Mr Fall was burned to death in it."[84]

When his father died, John Fall was still a minor and on 2 April 1751 was placed under the guardianship of Mr. William Hooper of Berwick, cordwainer, whom he called, in the language of the court, "my Friend."[4] Even so, just a few months before John came of age, the court ordered that the real estate that had been his father's was to be divided. Following their marriage, Elizabeth Fall was received into full communion at the South Church of Portsmouth 1 February 1761, and her husband, John, joined 8 March 1761.[7]

In 1766-68, John Fall, tanner, paid the town and province taxes on his property on the south side of Crawford Lane in Portsmouth. He usually paid 12 pence to the town and 6 or 8 pence to the province.[8]

On 18 November 1768, Benjamin Lewis of Portsmouth, mariner, and Sarah his wife, sold for £20 to John Falls of Portsmouth, mariner, and Elizabeth his wife, one half of their house and land which they had bought from the executors of John Abbot.[9]

On 19 May 1784, administration of the estate of Capt. John Fall, of Portsmouth, mariner, deceased intestate was granted to widow Elizabeth Fall of Portsmouth, who put up £2000 bond with sureties Samuel Hall, gentleman, and John Hall, yeoman, both of Portsmouth. Witnesses were Pierce Long and G.W. Long. Despite the impressive bond, the inventory, submitted 12 January 1784, was valued at a mere £12.4.6.[10]

Following settlement of the estate, widow Elizabeth married second in Portsmouth 9 or 19 May 1784[11] William Shores.

Roberts; married second as his second wife by Rev. Haven of Portsmouth, 25 October 1773 "Thursday Nov 4th 1773 Mr Wm Jones of Berwick mar'd his wife from Somersworth who was wo. of Thos. Roberts of Somersworth Dec'd"[17] WILLIAM JONES, born perhaps 7 July 1725, died before 15 July 1798, son of William and Hannah (Ricker) Jones.

William had married first Mary _____, who died in Berwick 29 April 1771.[18] With her he had one son, Nathaniel, who married Mary Roberts, who became his step-sister when their parents married in 1773.

On 16 July 1798, Nathaniel Jones was appointed to administer the estate of William Jones, late of Lebanon, yeoman.[19]

> William Jones. A little after Eben Jones made his settlement, William Jones settled east of him on the place now owned by his grandson Samuel Jones. He seems to have confined himself chiefly to lumbering and farming as his name rarely occurs in the town records in relation to town affairs. Mr. Hasey in his Diary says that in 1786, Jones had his leg broke, but in what manner he does not say. Jones seems to have the owner of several lots of land in town all lying near or adjoining the one on which he settled. His age and the time of his death are now unknown. He left two sons, Nathaniel and Thomas, who settled in town and lived in it till the time of their death. Nathaniel, settled a little distance northwesterly from his father. He became a prominent citizen and was elected Captain of one of the Military Companies in town. He fell from a frame and broke his thigh and one arm, the latter so badly that amputation became necessary. He never fully recovered from his injuries and died in a year or two afterwards. Thomas lived on the old homestead, where he died at an old age. [20]

In Lebanon, Me. Nov. 12, Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, wife of the late Mr Wm Jones, aged 95 - a highly respectable member of the Free Will Baptist Church.[21]

Joyce had at least two children born out of wedlock before her marriage to Moses Rowe, which was childless. The first child, a daughter, was born prior to the January Term of court, 1768.[31] The second known child, a son, was born about 1773.

Moses served as private in the Revolutionary War as a "three year soldier" from Berwick.

Following Moses' death, Joyce qualified for a widow's pension and was inscribed on the roll at Portland at the rate of $80 a year, to commence on the 4th

This is likely the Samuel Fall who enlisted on 18 April 1758, just weeks after his marriage, to join Capt. John Pickering's Co., Col. John Hart's Regiment, in the Expedition to Crown Point.[53]

On 31 March 1762, Thomas Downs of Berwick, husbandman, sold for 40s to Samuel Fall of Lebanon, husbandman, twenty acres in the twenty first lot in the second range of home lots.[54] On 5 April 1762, Samuel Fall of Lebanon, husbandman, and Joanna his wife, sold this twenty acres for £1,100 to Stephen Evens of Dover, trader.[55] Joanna made her mark to this deed.

14. MARY[3] FALL (Samuel[2], John[1]), born in January 1733[57]; died 17 May 1823, aged 90 years, 4 months[58]; married in Berwick, Second Parish Church 26 November 1761[59] HENRY RINES, born about July 1730, baptized at Berwick First Church 11 January 1738/9,[60] died probably in Milton, N.H., 15 October 1815, aged 85 years, 3 months,[61] son of Henry and Abigail (_____) Rines.

On 24 December 1777, Benjamin Chadbourne of Berwick, exchanged with Henry Rines of Lebanon twenty-five acres and one sixth of the Minister's charges for fifty acres in Lebanon at range 8, lot 9 in the third division.[62] On 5 September 1796, Henry Rines of Lebanon, sold to Daniel Down, twenty nine acres of land originally purchased from Benjamin Chadbourne.[63] On 5 December 1796, Benjamin Chadbourne sold to Henry Rines the land left over from the sale of a parcel of land to Ebenezer Yeaton.[64]

On 30 March 1803, Henry and Molley Rines of Lebanon sold to Enoch Blaisdell of Lebanon, thirty-two acres in Lebanon, "same land whereon I now live."[65] They both made their mark to this deed.

On 19 April 1803, Henry Rines of Lebanon in the County of York, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, purchased of Benjamin Miller, two tracts of land situated in Milton, 30 acres the southeast corner of third division, originally assigned to the right of John Bickford, Joseph Bickford and Eleazer Bickford, being Lot #40, it being "the same land where I now live and have improved for number of years" and the other piece containing fifty-five acres in Milton in the third division, Lot #41.[66]

George Walter Chamberlain in his Lebanon, Maine, Genealogies, suggested that Henry died before 1798 and that his widow "Polly" was the one who married in Lebanon 28 January 1799 Henry Miller. Evidently, Chamberlain did not know of Rines' move to Milton, and since he was still living in 1799, it is much more likely that the Polly who married Henry Miller was Henry and Mary (Fall) Rines' daughter.

The Rineses were buried in a family cemetery on the "Sadie Sinnott Farm," but evidently moved later to the Milton Mills Cemetery by descendant Samuel Fall Rines.[67]

On 9 December 1802, Richard Miller of Milton sold to Richard Furber of Farmington, ten acres and a quarter, in Farmington, it "being the seventh part of all the land owned by theirs of Richard Downing, Esq., late of Newington, Lot 123, third Division, it being in common and undivided as will appear by my deed of sale signed by my parents, Mark and Susannah Miller."[70] On 1 June 1804, Nicholas Harris Miller and Richard Miller, both of Milton, sold to Hatevil Nutter of Dover, one hundred and ten acres, third division, Milton original right of John Bickford, being "our homestead where we now live." Betsey released her right of dower in this land.[71] On 11 December 1806, Harris Miller and Richard Miller, both of Alton, bought of Henry Miller of Dover, Lot #2 as drawn to the right of Mark Wallingford in the division of Col. Both Tristram and Martha are interred in Evergreen Cemetery in Berwick.

Tristram saw service as a private in the French and Indian War,[78] and rose in the ranks to sergeant and then first lieutenant during the Revolutionary War. He began service from Berwick when he enlisted on 13 April 1756 and was assigned to Capt. Ichabod Goodwin's company.

In the Revolution, he was a member of several York County regiments, including Col. James Scammon's 30th in 1775, Col. Lemuel Robinson's, and Col. Storer's. On 23 April 1776 he was promoted and returned on a "list of officers chosen by the respective companies in said [4th Berwick] regiment." He was commissioned a 1st Lieutenant 29 April 1776 and served as such in Capt. Thomas Cutts' Eighth Company, Second York Co. Regiment of Mass. militia. Both Lt. Tristram Fall and his son, Orderly Joshua Fall, served in Capt. Samuel Grant's company, from which Tristram was discharged 30 November 1777 at Queman's Heights.[79]

Despite all this service, it is of record that at Berwick on 2 December 1781, Tristram paid one John Smith to enlist as his substitute in the Continental service for the term of three years.[80]

Martha (Pray) Fall owned the covenant at the Second Church of Berwick, Maine, on 22 August 1762 and was admitted a member in full communion on 4 October 1772.[81] Her later career with the church was not always amicable. On 22 April 1781,

> ...a complaint was laid before the Chh against Martha Fall a member of the same alledged by some of her neighbours, of her quarrelling with & using railing language to them unbecoming a christian at different times. Whereupon the Chh voted to appoint a committee to go & discourse with her respecting the matter of complaint.[82]

Elder Humphrey Chadbourn, Mr. James Foye, Deacon Ebenezer Lord and the minister were selected to talk with her. At the next public lecture, 25 April 1781, the committee reported that "...when they visited her she appeared to be beside herself and under a delirium, & therefore not a proper subject of discipline."[83] Years later, on 12 July 1787, a committee was appointed to inquire into why "ye wife of Tristram Faul has for a long time absented [herself] from public worship & ye ordinance."[84] Their report is not of record.

Tristram died intestate in 1792, and his brother Ebenezer Fall was appointed to administer. The inventory of his estate was not taken until 1 May 1797 and totaled $583.90.[85] Widow Martha received her thirds as a result of an order of 19 January 1807, which included the west front room in the dwelling house, the chamber over the same, a third of the cellar, liberty to pass and repass through the kitchen, cellar, the west bay of the barn, and to and from the well and brook for water, and the threshing floor and out to the road, and other small rights, as well as fourteen acres of land, and part of the orchard including thirty-five

The French and Indian Wars drew men from all parts of the colonies to fight, and the Kittery area was no exception. Stephen Fall, just seventeen years old, but with his father Tristram Fall's permission, enlisted from Berwick on 9 April 1759 and served for an indeterminant period in Col. William Pepperrell's Regiment, probably as a private.[95]

Stephen Fall enlisted again as a private in Capt. Johnson Moulton's Company on 13 December 1761 and served through the cold winter five months twenty-six days, until 27 May 1762.[98] The very next day, he re-enlisted and put in another month and twenty-four days with Capt. Moulton.[99]

In the 1771 Massachusetts Tax Valuation List for Berwick, Stephen Fall was rated for one poll, two oxen, one cow, three goats and sheep, one pig, two acres of tillage, and twenty bushes of grain produced per year.[100]

On 20 June 1778, Stephen Fall of Berwick, as one of the proprietors and holding one eight of a share, sold two hundred acres of land in Lebanon, range five, number two and three, range six numbers two and three in the third division of undivided land, to Joseph Hubbard, yeoman, for £11.11.4.[101] Stephen Fall signed his name to this deed.

On 12 December 1780, Stephen Fall, yeoman, with Thomas Downs, yeoman, and Joshua Downs, gentleman, all of Berwick, purchased from Benjamin Chadbourn of Berwick, Esq., two lots of land in Lebanon containing fifty acres each, one in range 12 number 17 and one in range thirteen number seventeen, both in the third division.[102] Stephen received one half of each lot, and Thomas and Joshua Downs received the other half. These three men sold this same land on 25 May 1781 to Thomas Appleby of Berwick for £90.[103]

On 5 June 1789, Stephen Fall of Sanford, yeoman, sold for £65.2.0 to Moses Plummer, forty acres of land in Sanford "where I now reside."[104]

In the 1790 census of Berwick, Maine, Stephen Fall had four males under 16, three males over 16 and five females in his household. In 1800, his household in Berwick consisted of 1 male over 45, one male 16-26, one female over 45 and one female 10-16.

On 1 March 1796, Stephen Fall of Berwick, sold to Ichabod Butler of Berwick, for $23.00, access to a little mill at Salmon Falls.[105]

On 6 June 1801, Stephen Fall and Thomas Downs of Berwick, yeomen, sold for $38.00, to Winthrop Hilton of Shapleigh, Maine, lot #16 in the fifth division in Lebanon.[106]

On 6 November 1802, Stephen Fall of Berwick, husbandman, sold to John Smith Jr. of Lebanon, lot #10 in the first range of the third division at Lebanon.[107]

On 15 April 1805, Martha Fall, widow, and Daniel Fall, mariner, both of Berwick, were appointed administrators of the estate of Stephen Fall, late of Berwick, yeoman, deceased. Sureties were Thomas Downs and Moses Hodsdon. Inventory taken by Thomas Downes, Moses Hodsdon and Timothy Wentworth, all of Berwick, totaled $342.55.

On 10 May 1805, the estate was declared insolvent and some of the land sold. On 27 May 1806, Martha Fall and Daniel Fall, administrators of the estate of Stephen Fall, late of Berwick, sold at public auction six and a quarter acres in Lebanon to Otis Fall for $28.75.[108]

Among the claims against the estate were the bills of Dr. J.H. Pierpont and Dr. O. Hubbard, both for treatment in Stephen's "last sickness."[109]

17. EBENEZER[3] FALL (Tristram[2], John[1]), baptized at Berwick First Church 12 May 1749[118]; died in Lebanon, Maine 25 May 1809; married in Berwick 16 June 1774[119] MARY McCRILLIS, born about 1751, died 27 October 1819, aged 68 years,[120] daughter of Daniel and Elizabeth (Thompson) McCrillis.

> Ebenezer Fall. He was amongst the first settlers near the centre of the township. He probably made his first clearing on the lot where he finally erected his house as early, if not earlier, than 1770. He was born in Berwick, from which place he came to this town and fixed his residence on the lot now owned by his grandson Isaac H. Fall. On the third day of October 1789 he raised a farmed house which was standing a few years ago but was torn down when Isaac H. Fall built the new house now standing on the farm. The old house stood a short distance northwesterly from the new house and farther from the highway. Mr. Fall lived to be an old man. He left several sons who settled in town and became industrious and useful citizens. His son Daniel inherited the old homestead, where he lived and died and left the property to his son Isaac H. Fall, who is its present owner so that it has never passed out of the name of its first settler. Ebenezer Fall was for many years the most northerly settler on what is called the "new road." He was an industrious and useful citizen though never taking an active part in the public business of the town. Some of his descendants have probably been endowed with better business faculties and mental powers than their progenitors especially his two grandsons. Ebenezer and Isaac H., both of whom have been often elected to some of the more important town offices.[121]

Ebenezer served as a surveyor of highways for Lebanon in 1777, 1779 and 1792.[122] He was a tythingman in 1792.

Ebenezer Fall of Lebanon, Maine, yeoman, being weak in body, made his will 11 November 1809 and signed it with his mark. He bequeathed to his wife Mary half the lot on which he lived with half the buildings and all appurtenances during her natural life and the mare. To his children Tristram, Otis, and Mary he left $5 each. To his daughters Nabby and Betty, "a living in the house and to be made equal with their married sister." To his sons Daniel and John, each to

Samuel served in the Revolutionary War for seven years, enlisting at Saco, Maine, in June 1776 and being honorably discharged in June of 1783. He was part of the battles at Saratoga and Yorktown, and attained the rank of Corporal.[145] His service entitled him to a pension, which he received beginning in April 1818 and which was extended to his widow, Judith, after his death.[146]

Prior to 1790, Samuel moved to Bartlett, N.H., where he was a farmer. Samuel purchased seventy-four acres of land in Bartlett on 18 July 1800 from Samuel Hall.[147] He also was entitled to bounty lands and received one hundred acres on a warrant issued 6 November 1795.[148]

He was active in Bartlett town affairs and was elected to serve as a field driver, a hog reeve, and the pound keeper.[149] He removed to Eaton, N.H., about 1832.

Sworn to at Somersworth, September 27, 1781, before Moses Carr.[157]

George Fall re-enlisted at Somersworth, N.H., 12 March 1777 in Capt. James Carr's Co., of Col. Enoch Poor's Regiment, for three years. He was a Sergeant in Capt. Carr's Co. and served some of his time in the 2nd Regiment of the New Hampshire line under Col. Enoch Poor and later under Col. George Reid. He continued to serve until 6 June 1783 when he was discharged at Newburgh, N.Y.

On 18 July 1820 George described the members of his family as Tammy, aged 47 and very "sick with cancer in her side which renders her helpless"; daughter Abra, aged 24; son Isaac aged 14 able to work, son Jacob aged 12 subject to disease of the head, little help.[158] He also indicated that he owned ten acres of tillage and mowing land, twenty-six acres of pasture and waste land, an old one-story two-roomed house, barn, one yoke of steers, two cows, etc. This property made him ineligible for a pension, and he was dropped from the rolls.

George resumed as a pensioner from 3 August 1829 until his death. He resided in the northerly part of the town on the Durrell Place, and was buried in the field owned in 1896 by Frank Lord. His will was made in 1835 and probated in 1836.[159] His grave is unmarked.[160]

KENNISTON, born about 1759,[175] died in Denmark 30 September 1833,[176] son of John and Margaret (Bean) Kenniston.

John served in the Revolutionary War from 1781 to 1783.[177] He enlisted 20 December 1781 and was ordered to join Col. Ichabod Goodwin's regiment at West Point. He was attached to Lt. Selden's company of the 4th Massachusetts Regiment and was a waiter to General McDougal for one year. He then joined his company and continued with it until the close of the war. He was discharged near West Point 31 December 1783, having served briefly in Capt. Fuller's company also.

On 13 July 1818, Samuel Fall executed a sworn affidavit that he was personally acquainted with John Kennerson and knew that he was in the Revolutionary War and was in reduced circumstances in life and stood in need of assistance and support. John was enrolled for a pension at a rate of $8 per month commencing 11 April 1818.[178]

As part of the requirements for receiving the pension, one 20 July 1820, John was asked to list the members of his family living with him, to which he replied: "Betsey my wife 64 years of age - very weak and sickly woman; Betsy Roberts a dependent "107" [?] lame and weakly; Eliza Kennerson, a grandchild, 6 years, healthy."[179]

Following John's death in 1833, his widow, Betsey received an $80 annual pension that continued through at least 31 July 1844.[180] On 24 August 1838, the pastor of the Congregational church in Lebanon, Maine, confirmed to the government that John Kenerson Jr. and "Bety" Fall were married 2 April 1779. Betsy applied (or perhaps re-applied) on 28 March 1844, aged 87 years, a resident of Denmark, Maine.

Aaron served in the Revolutionary War as a private in Capt. Ebenezer Deering's Co., Col. Joshua Wentworth's N.H. Regiment, being stationed at Fort Washington below Portsmouth from 31 March to 31 December 1781. He received a pension for this service.[82]

Aaron and Samuel Fall, both of West Ponds (a settlement that would later be called Dearborn, Maine), signed a promisory note to William Pitt, a merchant from Hallowell, Maine, for £10 to be repaid on 1 September 1792. When they failed to pay the last £7.9.3, in a timely manner, Pitt took them to court, where, on 4 September 1793, they were found guilty and sent to jail.[83]

As a result of his Revolutionary War service, Aaron became eligible for a land grant, and received sixty-four acres and fifty rods in lot #13 in West Pond on 23 May 1804.[84]

Originally, Aaron lived in Lebanon, Maine, and in 1788 moved to Dearborn, Maine. In 1816, he moved to Ohio, where he settled briefly in Marietta, then in Homer, and finally Marion township.

The History of Morgan County, Ohio, tells a little about Aaron:

> Aaron Fall was a Revolutionary soldier who came from New England. Instead of purchasing land, or taking advantage of the law favoring those who had been in military service, he took a lease of school land and made his clearing and improvement upon it. His son Moses lived and died in the township, and his descendants are still here.[85]

Some local historians, working in Morgan County, were interested in Aaron Fall, among other early settlers there. In the notebook of historian Augusta True, kept at the Morgan County chapter of the Ohio Genealogical Society, were the following mentions of Aaron:

> C.W. Newton says he visited the Goshen Cemetery more than forty years ago (now 1932) with his father + mother + a Mrs. Taylor who at that time was more than 80 yrs old + had attended the funeral of Aaron Fall. She thought she could locate Fall's grave, but the land marks that were there at the time of the burial were gone + she could not do so only approximately. Aaron Fall is undoubtedly buried there, but the grave cannot be located exactly. Laura Hammond Chesterhill 1832 [sic]

As Aaron approached the age of 90, his health declined. The trustees of Marion Township reported that:

> ...on receiving information that Aaron Fall is in a suffering condition and likely to require public assistance and on examining the condition of said Aaron Fall we are of the opinion it would be best for the County to render such assistance as will be necessary to keep him comfortable till he can be moved to the County Infirmary. Said Fall is not in a condition to be moved at this time in the judgement of Dr. Hustis of said township. The said Fall will be ninety years old on the twelfth day of July 1851. Birth place Old York County, State of Maine, and he has resided in Marion tsp. twenty eight years and a man of good moral habits and receives a pension of twenty eight dollars a year as a revolutionary soldier.[86]

My occupation is that of a farmer, but from age and infirmities am able to do but little towards my support. I have in my family my wife aged fifty eight years, who is much out of health, two sons one aged twenty and the other eighteen years of age, and a granddaughter aged thirteen years of age.

At Milton, N.H., March 2d, Br. Thomas Appleton, in a fit of apoplexy, aged 84 years and 4 months. Though thus advanced in years, he attended a Temperance meeting on Friday evening before his death on Saturday, an Anti-Slavery lecture & three meetings on Sabbath day and evening, which proved his last privilege of hearing the servant of the Lord plead the cause of his Master. On Tuesday following, about nine in the morning, while chopping at the door, he fell. He had some sensibility when some of the family first got to him, but never spoke after being carried to the house, where he expired about sunset. Bro. Applebe made profession of a hope in Christ about thirty years since, united with the church in Acton, and though not at all times so constant in religious duties as desirable, yet from time to time he was well engaged in the cause of Christ, and we trust has gone to the reward of the righteous. Thus suddenly and unexpected the aged widow, children and friends are called to part with a kind and affectionate husband, father and friend; and thus has fallen another of those who struggled for American liberty. At the funeral, on the 4th, a very large concourse was addressed by the writer from Luke 12:35, 36. It was a solemn time. Theodore Stevens.[95]

Died in Milton, Nov. 21st, sister Judith Applebee, widow of the late Thomas Applebee, aged 90 years and 7 months. She made a profession of a hope in Christ more than fifty years ago, and united with the first F.W.B. church in Acton, Me., of which she remained a worthy member until death.[96]

Stephen was probably the man who had Revolutionary War service in Capt. Jedediah Goodwin's company of militia. If so, he did not pursue a pension in later years.

With his other siblings, Stephen quitclaimed his rights in his father's property and buildings in Berwick to Ebenezer Fall on 6 April 1814.[132]

Stephen resided in Alton in 1778, where he and his wife were among the original founders of the East Alton Church.[133] For the next thirty years he was active and prominent in the affairs of East Alton and the church. In the 1798 Direct Tax, Stephen paid tax on one dwelling and fifty acres in Alton, valued at $297.60.[134] He became a member of the Freewill Baptist Church in Wolfeboro between 1793 and 1800, then removed to Tuftonboro by 1836.

In the 1850 census, Stephen and Rachel, then in their nineties, lived with son John in Tuftonboro,[135] by which time Stephen was blind.

Samuel Fall was a private in the company commanded by Capt. Jacob Davis in the Regiment of Infantry commanded by Col. John Stone in the War of 1812. He entered the service at Wiscasset, Maine, about 11 September 1814 and served through 26 September 1814. This service entitled him to bounty land.[160]

On 30 August 1814, Samuel Fall of Gardiner, mortgaged to Robert Hallowell of Gardiner, for $400, the west half of lot #95 on the north side of the Cobbesscontee River, consisting of 105 1/8 acres. He paid off the mortgage in December 1821. In the next ten years, this property was frequently mortgaged.[161] Finally, on 1 July 1829, Samuel and Keziah Fall, of Gardiner, sold this land to George Shaw and Alvin Perkins.[162]

In the Diary of Martha Ballard, a famous midwife who served coastal Maine in the early 1800s, several mentions of "Nabby Fall" were made in the winter of 1802.[187]

> "Nabby Fall is come to nurs my sons wife." 30 November 1802
> "Nabby Fall left here, we have paid her all her wages for work she has done here. Nabby left here, went to Hallowell." 2 March 1803

lot number twelve of Bowman tract in Hallowell, containing one quarter of an acre.[193]

Although he was not on his father's list of heirs, Otis, of Hallowell, housewright, sold "all the right, title, interest, claim or demand I have or ought to have in and unto the estate of my late hond father Tristram Fall, late of said Berwick, deceased," for $10 and love and affection to his brother Ebenezer on 2 December 1808.[194]

Otis made his living as a mariner and a ship master. He captained the ship, Three Friends, carrying flour and corn between Baltimore and Boston, a ship which was captured by the British in December 1812.

On land, Otis purchased six and a quarter acres from the estate auction of Stephen Fall. On 25 May 1813, Otis and his wife Frances, mortgaged his Portsmouth property to Mark Simes of Portsmouth, merchant, for $1000.[195]

On 7 August 1823, Otis Fall of Portsmouth, sold to Enoch W. Rollins of Hallowell, for $50, land on the west side of the Kennebec River.[196] In the 1821 Portsmouth tax list, the Otis Fall family resided in a house owned by Mrs. Frost of South Berwick. On 27 December 1824, along with his wife and her two sisters, Sally Harrold and Elizabeth Garrett, sold real estate in Newcastle previously owned by Capt. Henry Tredick, his father-in-law.[197]

On 20 February 1827, Otis and Francis Fall sold property in Portsmouth to Andrew Hussey of Portsmouth, mariner.[198]

53. STEPHEN[4] FALL (Stephen[3], Tristram[2], John[1]), born probably Berwick, Maine, 14 July 1763[202]; died in Lebanon, Maine, 8 January 1846[203]; married in Berwick 21 March 1785[204] ELIZABETH GERRISH, born 25 April 1762,[205] baptized 24 April 1763[206]; died in Lebanon 25 September 1847, [207] daughter of William and Mary (Morrell) Gerrish.

On 5 June 1789, Stephen Fall of Sanford, yeoman, sold for £65.2.0 to Moses Plumer of Sanford, yeoman, forty acres in Sanford, land Stephen had purchased in two lots from Samuel Nason and Moses Frost, respectively, "it being the place where I now live."[208] Stephen signed his name to this and subsequent deeds.

On 16 July 1794, Stephen Fall of Lebanon, husbandman, sold for £10 to Reuben Goodwin of Lebanon, husbandman, sixteen acres in Lebanon bounded by James Fogg, the county road from Lebanon to Sanford, Goodwin's own land, it being part of the land where Stephen presently lived.[209] Despite the fact that these two deeds dealt with the homestead lands, wife Elizabeth Gerrish, who had dower rights and was living at the time, did not join Stephen in these sales.

On 10 April 1809, Oliver Hamilton of Portsmouth, merchant, as agent for the heirs of the estate of Jonathan Hamilton Jr., deceased, sold for $50 to Stephen Fall of Lebanon, yeoman, two days of mill privilege at the mill built on a stream that ran through range five and number four, "with the proportion of iron work thereunto belonging, being the same Ezekiel Worster built in 1800 & the same which he conveyed to Jonathan Hamilton Jr. Ninth of Nov[r] 1801."[210]

On 8 June 1816, Eliphalet Ricker of Sanborn, joiner, sold for $500 to Stephen Fall of Lebanon, yeoman, the land where Eliphalet lived, partly in Lebanon and partly in Sanford, bounded by a stone wall, land of Daniel Johnson and the south branch of Salmon Fall Little River, Joseph Moore, Wainright Grant, and William Litchfield, being thirty-five acres with the building thereon.[211]

On 7 March 1820, Abner Hill of Sanford, gentleman, and Mary his wife, sold for $450 to Stephen Fall of Lebanon, husbandman, fifty acres in Lebanon, being lot "C" in the third division, bounded by Elisha Goodwin.[212]

On 11 January 1830, Nathaniel Butler, Jr., of Sanford, yeoman, and Joanna his wife, sold for $165 to Stephen Fall of Lebanon, yeoman, six acres and nine rods in Sanford, bounded by Daniel Gowen and a town road.[213]

On 18 November 1830, Stephen Fall, Isaac C. Fall, both of Lebanon, yeomen, and Martha, wife of Isaac C. Fall, sold for $800 to Adoniram C. Fall of Lebanon, yeoman, sixty acres and the buildings thereon in Lebanon, bounded by George Murray and the Horsom line.[214] All three grantors signed this deed.

On 13 November 1835, Daniel Littlefield of Lebanon, yeoman, sold to Stephen Fall of Lebanon, yeoman, for $25, twenty-three acres of land in Lebanon, bounded by Wainright's grant, Joshua Smith, Jonathan Hayes, William Frost, Abigail and Mehitable Wise, Daniel Johnson, Thomas Fernald and Ebenezer Littlefield.[215]

On 29 October 1830, Stephen Fall of Lebanon, yeoman, sold for $300 to David Fall of Sanford, yeoman, five acres and the buildings thereon in Sanford bounded by a stone wall, Daniel Johnson, John Littlefield, and Stephen Fall's own land.[216]

Departed this life in Lebanon, Me. Jan. 8, 1846, bro. STEPHEN FALL, aged 82 years, 5 months, and 24 days. He professed religion in 1794, and united with the C. Baptist church in Sanford. His last sickness was a cancer in the face, from which he suffered much for eighteen months. But, although his sufferings were great, he bore them with Christian resignation. He enjoyed much of the presence of the Lord during his sickness, and died in peace. As he was one of the first settlers in this region, he was called to pass through the privations and hardships common to the first inhabitants of a new country; but he acquired a large amount of property, and had a desire to do good with it. He assisted in erecting six houses of public worship, and usually subscribed liberally for the support of preaching in the vicinity. But he rests from his labors and his works will follow him. A short time before he left the world, he took his wife and children who were present, by the hand and bade them an affectionate farewell. He has left a widow, twelve children, and a large circle of more distant relatives, to mourn their loss. His funeral obsequies were attended Sabbath, 11th inst., when a discourse was delivered by the writer to a large and attentive congregation, founded on Rev. 14:13, "And I heard a voice from heaven," &c.

Died in Lebanon, Me., Sept. 25, ELIZABETH, widow of the late Stephen Fall, aged 85 years and 5 months. Sister Fall experienced hope in Christ some 50 years since and became a member of the first Baptist church in Sanford. Her life was usually exemplary, and she died in a good old age with a strong confidence in God and of the work of his grace on her heart. After being separated nearly two years from her husband, with whom she had lived upwards of sixty years, she has gone to enjoy an eternal union with him and Christ. W.H. Littlefield[218]

55. DANIEL[4] FALL (Stephen[3], Tristram[2], John[1]), seaman, born say 1765/70; died in Somersworth, N.H., June 1840; married in Newington, N.H., 31 December 1805[240] HANNAH FURBER, born in Northwood, N.H., about 1781, died in Boston, Mass., 6 March 1866 of old age, aged 84 years, 6 months,[241] daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (____) Furber.

Daniel Fall is named in the 5 September 1795 treaty between the United States government and the Dey of Algiers.[242] He was a seaman from Portsmouth, N.H., taken aboard the brig Olive Branch from Portsmouth, William Furness, master, carrying grain from Virginia to Lisbon. The brig was captured "10 and 11, 1793" by pirates off Tripoli, and the crew was liberated by Stephen Decatur, who became great friends with Daniel.[243]

Records in Berwick, copied by William Winship, town clerk, call Daniel Fall "captain."

On 20 July 1831, Daniel Fall of Berwick, husbandman, sold to his son John N. Fall of Somersworth, N.H., manufacturer, an undivided half part of his farm, containing thirty acres.[244]

An Old Time Sailor

The First in a Series of Personal Sketches of Old Citizens

In Berwick, a mile from this city, is a farm known for more than a century as the Falls homestead. It is located in a fertile valley between Pine hill and Worster's river, on the old road leading from the interior towns to tidewater. On its sunny slopes were orchards of apples, pears and peaches, sheltered by the high land along the Salmon Falls river; they had no off years. A large brook ran down the centre of the descending valley that was replenished and purified by copious springs, gushing from the banks on either side and alive with delicious trout.

The house was unlike any in the vicinity being a large two-story structure with a slightly elevated roof. It was the birthplace of Capt. Daniels Falls in about 1760. Several retired sailors to whose yarns young Falls had listened with intense interest, lived in the neighborhood, and he determined to be a sailor. At the age of 14 years, without the consent of his parents, he walked to Portsmouth to procure a situation as a cabin boy on some merchant vessel in port. A situation could be readily procured if the consent of his parents or guardian could be obtained. Young Falls knew but one man in Portsmouth, an itinerant preacher who had often shared the hospitalities of his father's house. After earnestly importuning his old friend for assistance in his dilemma, he was finally furnished with the necessary papers and entered upon his life work. He filled every office on board the ship, studied navigation with a retired sea captain, and when he arrived at a proper age became commander.

During Pres. Jefferson's first administration, Falls was made a prisoner by the Barbary Powers on the northwest coast of Africa, was carried to Algiers and consigned to slavery. He was yoked up like a beast of burden to haul stone for the public works, and shackled every night to a plank floor. One dark night he loosened his shackles and went aboard an English vessel in port. He was followed by his driver, who gave him a severe flogging, and while leading him over the gang plank to the shore the driver fell into the sea and was never again seen.

In 1804 Commodore Preble commenced the bombardment of the city, an action in which Lieut. Stephen Decatur took an heroic part. Falls and his fellow prisoners were released from bondage after 18 months of service and sent home by the government. He married Hannah Furber, a sister of the late Joshua Furber of Somersworth.

His early voyages were mostly to the West Indies. Once when on the coast of France his vessel became disabled, and it became necessary to send the crew ashore while repairs were made. When nearly completed the vessel broke from its moorings and was towed into a neighboring port, and Capt. Falls and his crew had to take public conveyance over land to his ship.

There had shipped at Portsmouth as a cook, a young graduate of Harvard college, who desired a sea voyage from the benefit of his health. When the captain arrived at the stage office in France he was about to examine the passenger list to ascertain if his crew had been properly booked. An Englishman standing nearby told him the books were not kept in the Yankee dialect and he could learn nothing from them. The captain called his cook and told him to read for the benefit of Johnny all the names on the list, which he did without hesitation. The captain said: "If the cook can read Latin and French what do you expect of the captain? That boy's (the cook's) occupation in America is driving cows to pasture!"

When Capt. Falls retired from the sea he came to live on the homestead. He was fully persuaded that a man was neither fit to live or die who had never sailed the seas over and visited foreign lands. John Paul Jones and Stephen Decatur were his idols. He had nothing to learn from his rural neighbors, nor did he desire their counsel or friendship. His nearest neighbor was Capt. Ichabod Emery, who declared himself a Federalist, pure and simple. Falls bore upon his banner the motto: "Free trade and sailors' rights." Emery boasted of his eminent ancestry and claimed that his blood was bluer than that of his plebeian neighbor, that he had been honored by his fellow citizens by being chosen captain of the local militia: that by virtue of his commission bearing the seal of the commonwealth of Massachusetts he was made one of the custodians of the public peace and the sacred rights of the people, and that he could not be outranked by a retired sea captain, who had commanded a few sailors over a cargo of West India rum and molasses and confined to a space not much larger than his threshing floor. They had frequent earnest and angry discussions on domestic and political topics, when they were old men, and, within the memory of the writer, Emery found a piece of wood securely fastened in his horse's mouth to present him from grazing the tender grass by the roadside. The conflict then ensued less harmless than words.

While Capt. Falls gave but few love feasts to his adult neighbors, all the boys in the vicinity were his pets. He gave them free access to his orchard, and he furnished material to build waterfalls on the brook, instructed them in rigging miniature ships, and entertained them at his house on rainy days with thrilling tales of the ocean. The boys all loved him, and none took advantage of his kindness and liberality. In gratitude to Stephen Decatur for the part he took in releasing him and his fellow prisoners from bondage, he gave his name to one of his sons, who now is living in San Francisco, an honored and trusted citizen.

When he became too old to labor on his farm, he moved to Somersworth, on Broad street, and for several years was a familiar figure on our streets. He died in June 1840. When a young mane he became a Mason in St. John's lodge, Portsmouth. He often expressed a wish that when he died he might be buried with Masonic honors. At the time of his death there were no Masonic lodges doing any work in this vicinity. Nearly all the lights on the Masonic altars in New Hampshire had been turned down for several years, but the Masons of Somersworth, Rochester, Dover and Portsmouth decided as individuals to give Capt. Falls a Masonic burial. The Columbian band was engaged, numbering twenty pieces, in elegant uniforms of blue and buff. They were in excellent practice, having been employed in the vigorous Harrison campaign. Pleyel's hymn was arranged as a dirge by the noted band master, Alonzo Bond, then of Concord. The procession came up Maine and Market streets to the Free Baptist church. It was a balmy day; the streets were crowded, and the church filled to overflowing. The religious services were conducted by the pastor, Elder Caverno; after they were over Maj. Andrew Pierce, a leading citizen of Dover, master of ceremonies for the day, eloquently addressed the assembly. The procession re-formed on Market street, Mathew A. Chandler of Somersworth acting as marshal. The column proceeded to the homestead where a grave had been prepared near a grove of poplar trees that had been planted by his own hands. After the evergreen had been deposited and the solemn farewell spoken, they returned with a lively quick step to Broad street where they were dismissed. This was probably a more imposing funeral, and was witnessed by more spectators than any similar occasion in the history of Somersworth.

67. ABIGAIL[4] FALL (Henry Hatevil[3], Zebedee[2], John[1]), born in Litchfield Co., Conn., 11 April 1802[344]; living 1880[345]; married 26 September 1826[346] ANSON POTTER, born in North Brookfield, Mass., 29 March 1803, living 1880,[347] son of John and Lydia (Holloway) Potter.

A biography of Anson Potter and his wife, Abigail, appeared in an 1890 publication, likely based on interviews with both pioneers:

> Anson Potter is an example of untiring industry, a pioneer of Housfield, and a present citizen of most honorable standing. Anson Potter has demonstrated qualities of high order, and to acquire superiority in a chosen calling has put forth unremitted exertions. He was the second child in the family of John and Lydia (Holloway) Potter, and was born in North Brookfield, Mass., March 29, 1803. His father was a farmer of limited means, and came with his family to Stowell's Corners, in the town of Hounsfield, in 1805; here he remained for several years, and maintained his family by working as a day laborer. About 1808 he purchased 50 acres of land, which is a part of the farm now owned by his grandson, Newman H. Potter, for which he was to pay $5 per acre; here he struggled with poverty for a number of years, for the maintenance of his family, and the removal of the encumbrance upon his property was a severe task ... When about 19 years of age [Anson] he commenced business for himself by taking jobs in clearing land, and being desireous of securing some one to share his joys and sorrows, he made the acquaintance of Miss Abby M. Fall, whom he married September 26, 1826. Her father, Henry T. Fall, was an officer in the Revolutionary army, and served during the war; soon after peace was declared he settled in Litchfield County, where Mrs. Potter was born, April 11, 1802. In 1811, meeting with some reverses in business, he emigrated to the town of Rodman; he, however, ended his days in the town of Brownville, at the advanced age of 96 years.... He [Anson] now owns a beautiful farm of 200 acres, which is a monument to his thrift and energy. This farm is probably one of the best in Jefferson County.
> Mr. and Mrs. Potter have been blessed with five children, named in the order of their ages: Walter W., Newman H., Lorentine C., Lydia M. and Anson A. Walter W. is a farmer and a resident of Eaton County, Michigan; Newman H. is one of Hounsfield's thrifty farmers, and did his country good service as a sergeant of Co. K, 35th New York Infantry; Anson A. is living in Brownville; Lydia M. is the wife of Harrison E. Spalsbury of Leonidas, Mich.; Lorentine C. is the wife of Chauncey W. Bates, of Polk City, Iowa.....[348]

68. ISAAC[4] FALL (Henry Hatevil[3], Zebedee[2], John[1]), born in N.Y. say 1802; died near Elmore, Ohio, 25 October 1895; married probably in N.Y. before 1827 ABIGAIL ELIZABETH GUERNSEY, born in Conn. about 14 March 1800, died in Ballville, Ohio, 11 November 1867, aged 67 years, 7 months, 27 days.[350]

> Isaac Fall, a pioneer resident of this section, died at his home near Elmore this week. The body was brought to this city and interred by the side of his wife in Oak Wood Cemetery.[351]

His obituary also appeared in German in another Fremont paper, and translated as:

> Isaac Fall, an older settler of Fremont and Elmore has died of pneumonia in his 70 [sic] year of life. The remains will be buried in the Oakwood Cemetery.[352]

Abigail's estate was administered by Seth G. Fall, and all children named below were mentioned in the probate records.[353] Seth sold the land Abigail had owned, lot #22 in Ballville, Sandusky Co., Ohio, and distributed the residue after payment of debts, to his mother's heirs.[354]

Despite the fact that Isaac was still alive at the time of his wife's death, he was not part of his wife's probate, leading to the speculation that after 1840 the couple parted. They are both buried in the Oakwood Cemetery, in Fremont, Ohio, with youngest daughter Elvira buried between them.

October 1833 JANE BLUNT SOULE, born in Montville, Maine, 3 April 1812, died in Garland, Maine, 23 February 1886.

Isaac cared for his father and step-mother until he was 21 years old, then left them in the care of an older brother and let himself out as a house carpenter for 1 year for $50 to learn the trade. At 22, he had saved enough of the $50 to go to Lynn to buy tools to work with. He worked one month on a church and was employed until 25 years of age by a man brother James had worked for for some years. On 26 August 1830 he went aboard a coasting vessel and came to Belfast, Maine, from there to Bangor by stage, from there to Charleston on foot and then to Garland, where he bough a lot of wild land and a pair of cattle. In 1832 and 33 he cleared the land and built a very good house and barn for that place at that time.[441]

Isaac served as a lieutenant in the late 1830s in Garland's local artillery Company.[442] During the Civil War, he was a private in Co. C, 2nd Maine Infantry Regiment and Co. D, 17 Maine Infantry Regiment, from 28 May 1861 to 14 April 1862. At the time of his enlistment he was described as 5 feet 9 1/2 inches, sandy complexion, red hair and blue eyes. Later, he served again as a private in Co. D., 17 Maine Infantry, during which service he became disabled and was discharged. In 1885, he applied for an invalid pension and later received it.[443]

Isaac sold his farm on 30 August 1885 and went to live with daughter Mary J. Given.

In her letter to Virginia Gooden, Elaine Rines wrote that "Samuel went south to Macon, Georgia."

Samuel Rines, whose shop stood where the J.A. Smith store building now does, was among the early village blacksmiths. For many years, he conducted a shop on that site, and later became interested in a sawmill standing just east of where the grist-mill now is, on the north side of the river.

He made a plow that won fame for him; abandoning his old stand, he erected a foundry and shop near the sawmill, and devoted much of his time to the manufacture of his plow. He purchased the land between Middle Street and the river, including the mill site and the old mill house which stood where William Clough's house now does, and built a large two story factory, extending from Middle Street to the water.

In the end next to the street, on the first floor, he established his foundry, the first one in Lancaster. In the other end of the building, on the same floor, he set up lathes, planers, and other tools and machinery. Here he did business for many years under the firm name of S. & W.M. Rines. Webster M. Rines was his son, and afterwards ran a sanitarium in Delaware, where he died recently.

The firm made great numbers of the celebrated plows which found ready market far and near. Some of the older farmers now living remember the plow, and speak of it as a fine implement.[61]

ABBOTT, born 1 September 1799,[231] died 10 May 1848 of cancer, aged 48 years, 8 months, 10 days.[232]

In Berwick, Me. March 21st, Humphrey Fall, Esq. aged 51 years, 3 months and 12 days. Thus God has seen fit to take away a kind son and husband, an affectionate father and generous friend. He had an ill turn at Augusta while a member of the Legislature two years ago, and had not been well since, though most of the time he kept about his business till Dec. last. He was then obliged to give up work. He was respected as a citizen, and filled the offices while he had held in the County and State with honor to himself, and to the satisfaction of his constitutents. He was a member of the Free-will Baptist church, and maintained a good profession to the last. In the last of his sickness he was happy and was almost impatient for the time of his departure to arrive. He died in peace, like one going to sleep.

Also, May 10, died Mrs. Sarah A. Fall, wife of the above, aged 48 years, 8 months and 10 days. Mrs. Fall's complaint was cancer. She first discovered it seven years ago; but was unable to find any thing to help her. The children are left to mourn the loss of their parents. May they remember the advice they gave them when on their dying beds.[233]

Thomas S. Fall one of the oldest of our citizens and the oldest member of the Methodist church of this city, died at the home of his son, on Rochester hill, Saturday, of paralysis. Last week the fact was mentioned in the Courier that Mr. Fall had suffered a shock, and he never recovered consciousness. He was over 93 years of age.

Mr. Fall was born in Berwick, Me., and spent his boyhood there, later moving to Freedom. From that town he came to Rochester over 60 years ago and had resided here ever since. He was most of the time engaged in farming, but had worked as a wool sorter in the mills here, at Gonic and at East Rochester. He was one of the charter members of Motolinia lodge of Odd Fellows and was the oldest member of the M.E. church here, having joined it more than a half century ago. He was a whole-souled and enthusiastic Christian, and always took a leading part in church affairs. At the time of the conference here some years since, he said that if God would only permit him to see that he would die content. He lived, however, some years more.

Mr. Fall was a strong Republican in politics, and was one of those who voted for both the Harrisons for president. He took an interest in politics, though not an active part except to vote always. His wife died some two years ago, after a married life of over sixty years. He leaves a son, L.M. Fall of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary J. Stacy of South Berwick and Mrs. Laura C. Deane of Sioux City, Ia. Up to within two or three years Mr. Fall has been very vigorous, both in mind and body, but of late had failed a good deal and his death was not unexpected.

Funeral services were held at the house, Tuesday afternoon, Rev. William Ramsden officiating and a delegation from Motolinia lodge, I.O.O. F., acting as bearers.[238]

Lurena had married first Joseph Otis and had with him ten children, of which seven were living in 1910.[243]

Administration of the estate of Mary A. Fall was refused by her widower and Elbridge A. Shorey was appointed in his stead.[244]

> The remains of Lorenzo Fall, aged 82 years, a former resident of this city, were brought here yesterday from Wakefield, N.H., and interred in the Rochester cemetery under the direction of Calvin Haynes of Milton Mills. The deceased was a resident in this city for many years, residing on the so-called Thomas Fall residence in the Rochester Hill section. Afterward he resided on Congress street in the city proper. For a number of years he has resided in the north country and the past few months has been in poor health.[245]

> Mrs. Mary. A, wife of Lorenzo M. Fall of this city, died on Jan. 3. at the residence of her nephew, Dr. Elbridge A. Shorey, Dover, N.H., after an illness of nine weeks duration. Mrs. Fall went to Dover with the intention of making a short visit but was taken almost immediately with the illness that resulted in death. The funeral took place in Dover on Thursday, Rev. George E. Hall, D.D., officiating. The remains were taken to Rochester and deposited in the receiving tomb at the cemetery. Mrs. Fall will be mourned by a large circle of sorrowing relatives and friends.[246]

Mary married first 26 September 1841 Zenas Drew, died 1843, son of Samuel and Lydia (Sperling) Drew. With Zenas she had one child, Daniel, who died as an infant.

> Another Godly man from the High Street Methodist Episcopal Church in Great Falls, N.H. (Somersworth) has ceased from his labors and entered in to rest. Tristram Fall, a miller in the church for years a faithful class-leader and an earnest Christian worker, died in Berwick, Me., Mar. 10, 1871, aged 63 years, 5 months. His pathway for over forty years has been that of the just, enabling him to say in death "I have fought the good fight; I have finished my course; I have kept the faith." During the past winter, Brother Fall was remarkably active in two protracted religious meetings in which his self-sacrificing earnestness was the subject of remark by the people. He was doing his last work in the Vinyard. His sun was about to set, though we knew it not; death came, but it had no terrors. When questioned as to his faith in the dying hour, he replied that not a single doubt had troubled him. He was asked at one time if he was willing to die. He answered wisely, "I am willing that God's will be done." His last words were "A Crown: A Crown!" The loss which the church and a large and loved family sustain, in the death of this good man cannot be well estimated. The vacant place cannot be easily filled. The church will miss his words of cheer, and sinners his solemn warnings. His dying testimony was in the text he selected to be used at his funeral. 2 Tim. iv 7, 8 - and which very truthfully sets forth this good man's life, character and hopes. Great Falls, March 23, 1871. Charles U. Dunning.[250]

On 2 May 1871, Mary Fall was appointed administrator of her husband's estate.[251] Hezekiah Fall signed her bond.

Rochester, N.H., by Rev. L.P. Cushman, 10 July 1869[276] SUSAN A. LORD, born in Tamworth, N.H., 1 August 1851, died in Bridgeport, 3 November 1930.[277]

Brief mention was made in last week's issue of the death of our esteemed townsman, John A. Fall, who passed away on Thursday morning. For a number of years he has been gradually failing, but his characteristic courage and the natural strength of his constitution long kept him alive. Even the day before his death he transacted a business matter that had been on his mind.

Mr. Fall was born in Berwick, Feb. 14, 1815, son of Ebenezer and Mary (Hodgston) Fall. He received his education in the public schools of Berwick and Somersworth and at West Lebanon Academy. He went to work for Uranus O. Brackett, candy manufacturer, at the time the latter built the large wooden building in rear of the brick block on Sullivan square, Berwick, in 1867. There he remained six years, and in 1873 he started in business for himself in the building at the northerly end of Market street near where the Queensbury mill now stands. Three years later, Mr. Fall built the factory on Rochester street, Berwick, where he continued in business for about forty years, retiring several years ago on account of the condition of his health. Mr. Fall ran his business according to his own ideas. Candy was mainly sold from peddlers' carts when he went into business. Every factory had its team, or teams, running to supply the trade. Mr. Fall was advised to buy a team for this purpose, and replied that he was going to do it all himself. Men who ran teams said he couldn't stay in business a year if he did it in that way. But he stayed and prospered, and the candy teams gradually left the road. Mr. Fall was the first one hereabouts who sold candy by sample, his first trip was to Newmarket. The plan met with much favor among retailers.

Mr. Fall was a man of strong character and clean mind. Several years ago he wrote letters to the Free Press from Florida which were greatly enjoyed by our readers. He had keen powers of observation, and looked at things in an original way. In early life he joined the High St. Methodist church and was for years a devoted and zealous member from love of the service. He cared little for public office. At one time he served as a member of the city council, and his advice and counsel were valuable. The only fraternal organization to which he belonged was the Masons. He was a member of Libanus lodge and took a deep interest in it. One of our first citizens was Mr. Fall, a man of great sincerity, honest, upright and genial. He had no enemies for he wronged no man, and his friends were all who knew him. He is survived by a widow and five children, John, of Boston, Mrs. Charles Elwell of Bridgton, N.J., Gilbert of Chestnut Hill, Pa., Miss Barbara of New York City, and Miss Katherine of Bridgeport, Ct.

Mr. Fall was for many years a director of the Somersworth National Bank.

The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the home on Prospect street, Rev. Paul E. Lewis officiating. Libanus Lodge, A.F. & A.M. attended in a body and performed their burial rite at the house, interment was in Forest Glade cemetery.[278]

Stephen Fall served in the War of 1812 as a private in Capt. J. Wilson's Company, Lt. Col. A. Merrill's Regiment, and Lt. N. Sandford's Company in the same regiment.[325] He was at Wiscasset in June 1814 and September 1814.

On 24 February 1814, Stephen and Mary Fall of Topsham sold to Eli Wadleigh of Shapleigh, the fifth part of one hundred acres in Shapleigh, the land being owned in the right of Mary, formerly Mary Cushing, as part of the estate of her late father.[326]

Regardless of the issues addressed in the following, Stephen and Mary remained together:[327]

> Whereas MARY, my wife, has eloped from my bed and board, and taken with her my child, and various other articles of furniture, &c, and has conducted herself in a very unbecoming manner. This therefore is to forbid all persons harboring or trusting her on my account, as I shall pay no debts of her contracting; and all persons having any property of mine in their possession, conveyed to them by my said wife, or otherwise, are requested to return the same, or they will incur the penalty of the law - as I am determined to prosecute all persons who has, or may hereafter improperly interfere or aid my wife in secreting my property.

An interesting mystery exists about Martha and her travel. An inscribed note inside the cover of an old edition of Shakespeare's works establishes that Martha was aboard a vessel called the Anadir on 5 March 1854. A newspaper clipping establishes that she arrived in New Bedford aboard this ship with an infant, in 1857. Perhaps she took two trips in the two separate years. Likely she was going back and forth from California, which suggests some very hazardous voyages.

On the morning of Saturday, September 5, Eben Fall, one of the most highly respected of our citizens, passed away very suddenly at the home of his nephew, Fred Fall of East street. Mr. Fall suffered a long illness last winter and had not been in such robust health as was usual. On Friday however, he was out of doors and apparently as well as he had been since his illness. Early in the morning of Saturday his niece, Mrs. Fall carried to his room the glass of milk which he was accustomed to take each morning and after drinking it, he said he would lie a while longer. About seven o'clock, an hour after her first visit, Mrs. Fall went to her uncle's room again when he told her he had had two attacks of dizziness but was feeling better and would soon get up. A little anxious about him and hearing nothing from his room, Mrs. Fall soon went upstairs a third time, to find that the kindly old man had "fallen on sleep." the sleep that knows no waking. Mr. Fall had made his home with his nephew since the death of his only son, John M. Fall, who passed away in January 1904.

Mr. Fall was born May 18, 1817 at Ossipee, N.H. to which place his parents had removed from Lebanon, Me. There are documents still in the Fall family, written before the state of Maine was set apart from Massachusetts. The greater part of the long, well-rounded years of Mr. Fall's life have been spent in Ipswich where he came in 1837. For several years he was employed by the late Jacob Brown. Many a time before the railroad from Boston to Ipswich was built, Mr. Fall drove his ox-team or horses, sometimes both together, to Boston to bring home a load of flour, molasses and other like commodities. He helped to build the railroad from Salem to Newburyport and when the first trip to Portsmouth over the old Merrimac River bridge was made. Mr. Falls was one of the passengers. About 60 years later, in 1907, he made his first automobile trip and his first to Magnolia. He was a very unobtrusive man, but to those who knew him well, he was a most interesting talker.

Mr. Fall married Miss Abigail Manning of Ipswich, whose death preceded his own by forty years. Two children, a son and a daughter were born to them, both dying in 1904, leaving the father at the age of 87 years, without wife or child. A brother, T.B. Fall of East street is his nearest living relative, a sister having passed away in 1907, just one year ago. Three nephews and a niece have been to him as sons and daughter and have tried so far as possible, to take the places of those "loved long since and lost awhile." It was a severe blow to Mr. Fall to give up the old home on Lakeman's Lane where he had lived for more than three score years, but after the final wrench was made, he was very happy in his new home. He was a man of quiet disposition and upright life; industrious and frugal; and one who not only won but deserved the respect of his fellow townsmen.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon from the home of Mr. Fred Fall, where the kindly old gentleman spent four happy years.[490]

David I. Kimball, 4 May 1849[506] HARRIET LORD, born in Ipswich, May 1822, died in Ipswich 11 May 1904, of heart disease, aged 79 years, 11 months, 27 days,[507] daughter of William and Hannah (Lord) Lord.

After a long useful life of nearly 86 years, Tristram B. Fall passed away on the afternoon of Saturday April 9. Although Mr. Fall had not been really well for a long time he was actively engaged in life's work and duties until within a few months. His last and fatal illness covered a period of but ten days. He fell a victim to grippe, which in conjunction with other troubles, brought about the end, which was a simple going to sleep and like Enoch of old, "he was not for God took him."

Mr. Fall was not a native of Ipswich although nearly 70 years of his life was spent here. He was born in Ossipee, N.H., April 14, 1824. His family originally lived in Lebanon, Me., where branches of his kinsfolk still reside. He came to Ipswich when about 17 years old, working at farming for a time. He then spent two years as assistant at Salem jail, returning to Ipswich to become steward and engineer at the House of Correction, a position he held 36 years. He was the last of those serving under Supts. Ira Worcester, John D. Cross, Nathaniel Shatswell and Dr. Hurd. If one word more than another is especially applicable to Mr. Fall's life and service it is faithfulness in all things. He was always ready, always prompt, and always capable. Quiet and unassuming in manner, upright in life, and kindly of disposition, he won the respect of his fellow officers of his townsmen, and of the hundreds of convicted men with whom he had to deal. Since resigning his position at the Institute, Mr. Fall has followed his early occupation of farming and also has been associated with his eldest son in the coal business.

Mr. Fall married Miss Harriet Lord of this town. Her death took place very suddenly in May, 1904. He was very happy in his marital relation and his children have been devoted to him. He leaves three sons, George, William and Frederic and one daughter, Miss Lettie Fall, all of Ipswich. Three grand children and three great grand children also will miss his gentle love and interest. On the day of his death, Mr. Fall asked about the date of one of his grandson's birthday. On being told that it was April 11, he said "I may live to see that, but I never shall see another." Still another who is lonely already without the kindly word and caressing hand is the old gentleman's faithful dog and inseparable companion.

The one interest outside of Mr. Fall's home ties was his devotion to the principles of Odd Fellowship. At the time of his death, he was the oldest member, in years of membership and of age, of Agawam Lodge No. 52, where he was made an Odd Fellow, February 15, 1847. He also was a charter member of Martha Washington Rebekah Lodge; a member of Naumkeag Encampment of Salem; and of the Veteran Odd Fellows' Association. In Agawam Lodge he held many positions of responsibility and several times was at the head of the lodge as its Noble Grand.

Mr. Fall was the last of ten children, four sons and six daughters. One brother died 3 years ago at the age of 91 years; and a year later a sister passed away who was 84. As a young man in his teens Mr. Fall was not very robust and his family feared that his life would be short but he outlived his entire family.

Isaac was a carpenter and built the three Shapleigh homes in West Lebanon for $1.25 a day and Miss Anna C. Cousen's house where he lived.

> Died in Lebanon, of consumption, Jan. 14, Hannah J. Fall, wife of Isaac H. Fall, aged 25 years, 6 months, and 25 days. Sister Fall experienced religion in early life, was baptized by Eld. Theodore Stevens, and united with the Second F.W. Baptist church in Lebanon, where she remained till death. Through a long and protracted sickness, she manifested the sweetest calmness and talked most familiarly on death and heaven. A heavenly smile played upon her countenance till the last. She reaped truly the fruits of faithfulness in life, in her last sickness and death. It was a sweet deliverance. Her friends and acquaintances mourn deeply their loss.[578]

In his will dated 7 September 1876, Isaac H. Fall bequeathed $100 to each of his sons, Charles D., John H., and Fred G., and the remainder to his widow, Mary Swasey Fall.[579]

HOUSTON, born in Sanford, Maine, died in Albion, April 1925, aged 92 years, 10 months,[587] daughter of John and Abby Houston.

Lorenzo enrolled as a private in the Massachusetts 30th Unattached Heavy Artillery at Springfield, Mass., on 29 August 1864 and served through 16 June 1865 when he was honorably discharged at Fort C.F. Smith, Virginia. He was 5 feet 9 inches, of light complexion, blue eyes, light hair, occupation carpenter, at that time.[588]

Lorenzo applied for a pension in 1891 and deposed that he contracted rheumatism at Fort Smith, Virginia, in October and November 1864 as a result of exposure standing on picket in the rain. He further suffered deafness for several days in the middle of October 1864 as a result of the firing of the artillery on target practice, and "my left ear afterwards broke and run. I have always been more or less deaf since that day."[589]

Mrs. Amos W. Fall, Sr., died 12 May 1904 at her home on West Second St., after a lingering illness, aged 70 years, 4 ms, 4 days. Rev. R.F. Mayer, pastor of M.E. Church, off. at services, buried Lakeview Cem. Hanah (Kistler) was b. at Melmore, Seneca Co., Ohio, Jan. 8, 1834; she was youngest in a family of 7 children, 2 surviving: Mrs. Jacob Moore, of Hannibal, Mo. & Edmund Kestler, San Francisco. She married Amos Fall Mar. 18, 1858 at Fremont & they came to P.C. in spring of 1861, where they lived since. She was mother of 10 children, eight survive: Mrs. J.L. Tillotson, E.H. Fall, Mrs. C.G. Englebeck, Mrs. J.N. Washburn, Mrs. Geo. Yeisley, Josie L. Fall, A.W. Fall, Jr. and Mrs. C.H. Wolfe, her husband also survives.[656]

Amos W. Fall, who has resided in Port Clinton since 1860, died at the family home Tuesday morning, aged 69 years and seven months. Bright's disease was the cause of his death.

Mr. Fall was a pleasant gentleman and made friends wherever he went. For years he was the trusted agent of A. Couche & Co., and in all his extensive dealings for this firm he was always right. Later he rendered his son, Mr. E.H. Fall, who succeeded to the business of A. Couche & Co, valuable aid in the extension of his great business. Possessing all the qualifications of the businessman, he was content to give all his knowledge and experience to his employer and never embarked in business for himself.

He was born in the state of New York, but when but a mere child he came with his parents to this county, who settled near Marblehead. Later the family moved to Sandusky county. He his surgeons (and as they were well advanced in age during the war, he presumed they were dead also). He deposed that he was wounded in his left hand at the Battle of Nashville, 16 December 1864, and he was sent to the rear of the line of battle and stayed there one night. The next day he was sent to Louisville, Kentucky, and from there sent to New Albany, Indiana, where he remained until the end of his service, with the exception of a thirty day furlough.[665]

On 28 May 1887, William A. Flora, a friend and fellow soldier, made a general affidavit in support of Caliston's petition for a pension, and stated that he had known Caliston before the war, when he was an able bodied man. Flora was not present when Caliston was wounded, but understood that it was at the battle of Nashville, Tennessee about 16 December 1864. Caliston was sent to the hospital in Albany where he caught the measles and a cold which settled in his head producing partial deafness. Flora deposed that Caliston was at least half disabled from the injuries suffered during the war.[666]

The pension was granted and was paid to him until his death, at which time, his widow was granted a pension.

The death of Mrs. Ivory Fall occurred at the residence of her daughter Mrs. Albert Thwing with whom she had made her home for a number of years.

Born in Lebanon 6 March 1819, she was the daughter of James and Nancy Fernal. In 1845 she married Ivory Fall and had three daughters, Delia L., Clara B., late wife of Professor A.B. Meservey, and Emma F., wife of Mr. Albert Thwing. Mr. Fall died 28 September 1865 so that Mrs. Fall's widowhood had been of long duration. One brother, Mr. William Fernald of Springfield, Mass., is living. Deceased joined the Free Baptist church here in 1854, and has been a zealous member ever since, though the condition of her health prevented her from giving her active services to the work of the church. You can say nothing nobler of a woman than that she was a devoted mother. Interment will be at Forest Glade Cemetery.[707]

Hussey she gave a piece of land in Somersworth and five shares of stock in the Somersworth National Bank and a bond from the Norfolk Souther Railroad Co.; the residue she gave to her daughter Celia Amanda Hussey.[717]

> The people of this community were sadly surprised to learn of the death of Mr. Noah L. Fall, one of our most esteemed citizens, which occurred Sunday morning at a quarter to nine o'clock, after an illness of one week, the cause of his death being pneumonia.
> Noah L. Fall was born in Lebanon, Maine, Feb. 26, 1823, being at the time of his death very nearly 67 years of age. His father was the late Ivory Fall and his mother's maiden name was Lydia Lord. At the common district schools Mr. Fall received his education and at the age of 21 he left Lebanon and went to Farmington where he worked for four years in a bobbin shop belonging to the late Judge Whitehouse. On the third day of October 1847, he was married to Miss Amanda E. James of Lebanon, a sister to Mr. Samuel James of this town. On their wedding day they came to this town to live. Here Mr. Fall worked in the Davis bobbin shop for nearly 20 years, and then went into the grocery business in 1866 with Mr. John Robinson on Market street. They continued together two years, and in 1868 Mr. Fall went into partnership with Mr. Amos Lougee, remaining with him two years. In 1871 he went to Lewiston and was manager for L. W. Gilman's bobbin shop there during the years 1871-3. Afterwards he returned to this town and has lived here ever since. Of late years he has not been in active business for himself, but has been assisting his son-in-law, Mr. F.A. Hussey, at his bakery. Mr. Fall was a representative to the legislature from this town in 1876-7; was a selectman in 1871-2 and has been a trustee of the Somersworth Savings Bank since 1878. He was a Mason and Odd Fellow, being a prominent member of both these fraternities. He was baptised by Rev. Nahum Brooks and joined the Free Baptist church in 1850 and has been a member ever since. Mr. Fall was a very kind and thoughtful man in the family circle and his death makes a sad loss for the household. ...He leaves a widow and one daughter, the wife of Mr. Freeman A. Hussey, of this town....[718]

Charles Hayward 29 November 1838 REBECCA GREEN HOWARD, born in Malden, 12 May 1817,[723] died in Malden 12 April 1903 of pneumonia, aged 86 years, 11 months,[724] daughter of James and Mary (Cox) Howard.

In his will of 25 January 1880, George H. Fall of Malden bequeathed to his wife Rebecca G. Fall, his entire estate as long as she remained his widow, and at her death a trust to be created and the net income thereof to go to his son George Howard Fall until he is 30 years old, at which time he receives the entirety.[725]

In her will of 29 June 1895, Rebecca G. Fall of Malden, bequeathed to her nephew Charles Gersham Fall $200; to the Center Methodist Church $200; to her cousin Phebe Ann Vinton $100; to her cousin John Winton $100; to Anna C. Fall her son's wife $100 "so that she need not say she hasn't a dollar in her pocket"; to her granddaughter Emma Latimer Fall $100 at age 21; to her grandson Howard Fall $100 at age 21; to her grandson Lionel $100 at age 21; residue to her only son George Howard Fall of Malden, executor.[726]

> It is very seldom that the life an invalid is prolonged so far as was Mr. Fall's. Thirty years ago his health became such as to oblige him to give up business. The physical strength which had been so marked in his previous life became broken down, so that at thirty-five his business life was closed; and the care of his health and of the comfortable property he had acquired has been with some exceptions almost his only employment since. It is rarely the lot of any man to endure so long the miseries of feeble health....
> Mr. Fall was born in Lebanon, Maine on June 4th, 1815. His father was a prosperous farmer, as was his grandfather also, and an officer in the Revolutionary army. His mother's family, too, were many generations back thrifty and forehanded farmers. He was the eldest of eight children, four of whom were boys, and all of whom grew up to become earnest and intelligent men and women. At the age of seventeen he came from home, worked on a farm in Dorchester, earned $75 for his season's work, which he carried home to his father. Two years after he came to Lynn and learned a carpenter's trade, and in 1838, forty-two years ago, he settled in Malden and began at once to build houses by contract. Two of his brothers, Gershom L. and Sewall W., soon followed him to Malden, learned the same trade, and at once began the same occupation of builders. They were all three remarkable young men, of the true New England type....Gershom was by nature a true orator, and it soon became apparent that any project succeeded which he favored in town meeting...But in a few years Sewall died, about 1850, George lost his health, and in 1866 Gershom died.
> The subject of this memoir felt deeply the loss of his brothers, which was as great a loss to him as to the community; but he lived on manfully, bearing the ills of disease as well as he could. He has held various town office, was in 1858 an 1859 chairman of the selectmen, held important positions in the bank, and almost always was on committees when large sums of money were to be refunded or school houses and public buildings were to be erected. served twice upon the board of assessors. He was always on the side of economy, and was justly called sometimes the "watch-dog of the treasury." ...Among other mental gifts he had one which was quite remarkable, his power of wit and humor. His bright sayings were often quoted, his humor was always playful, his wit always keen, his sarcasm sometimes severe. But they were always as unaffected and as natural as the color of his hair. Like a true sportsman his fun was in shooting the arrow and not in seeing the wound it made; and if he thought that at any time he had injured another's feelings he was always in haste to apologize and make amends. He was always a staunch Republican; was a member of the first Free Soil Club ever organized in Malden; was "an original abolitionist," and often spoke with pride of having voted for James G. Burney for President in 1852.[727]

Mrs. Rebecca Green (Howard) Fall, widow of George Hanson Fall of Malden, died suddenly Sunday at the home of her son, former Representative George Howard Fall. She was born in Malden eighty-six years ago, and was the oldest daughter of James and Mary Howard. She was the last but one of the original members of the Centre Methodist Episcopal Church of Malden, being a member over sixty-five years. It was out of a class meeting at the home of her father that the Centre M.E. Church of Malden was instituted. The house where he lived, which is at 213 Pleasant street, was there the first Methodist service in Malden was held.
Mrs. Fall had lived in Malden all her life. Her husband, who died some years ago, was the leader in politics in Malden for over half a century. Her one son, George H. Fall, is a prominent Boston attorney and an instructor in Roman law at Boston University.[728]

...Mrs. Fall passed away at 5:50 o'clock on Easter morning and the immediate cause of her demise was heart failure. A few years ago she sustained a broken hip in a fall, and for some time her life was despaired of, but she rallied and recovered and enjoyed extraordinarily good health until about two weeks ago when she contracted a cold. Thursday she seemed better but late Saturday evening was taken with a sinking spell and passed away early Sunday morning.
Mrs. Fall was born in this city and always lived here. She was the oldest daughter of James and Mary Howard, old settlers here. On her father's side she was a direct descendant of James Howard, who came to Massachusetts on the ship Elizabeth in 1635 and immediately settled in Charlestown of which this city was then a part, and on her mother's side she was in a direct line a descendant of William Cox, who distinguished himself for bravery in the siege of Louisburg. All her ancestors lived and died here. She was the widow of George Hanson Fall, who was prominent in Malden politics for over 50 years, holding nearly every office in the town government.
Mrs. Fall was the oldest but one of the living members of the Center Methodist church of this city, having been connected with it ever since her girlhood days. The church itself was founded out of a class meeting which was held at the house of her father....[729]

First wife Lydia P. Farnum married second in Cambridge 8 October 1872[774] R. Gardner Small, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth E. Small.

James served as a corporal in Co. E., 11th Regiment of Mass. Infantry, from 13 June 1861 through 24 June 1864.[775] He was wounded on 2 July 1863 at Gettysburg in both the legs and back by a shell.

> James H. Fall, a respected citizen, died at his home early Saturday morning. He had been in failing health all summer, but has been about until Monday of last week. Since then the disease made rapid progress and the end was painless.
> Mr. Fall was born in Medford, 74 years ago, and moved to this town some years ago. He was a kind husband, a good friend and neighbor, and leaves an honorable war record. He enlisted in Boston at the age of 28 years in the 11th regiment, Co. E. He was taken prisoner at Malvern hill, was imprisoned at Richmond and Belle Island, and was exchanged in five weeks. He was wounded at Gettysburg and was discharged at the expiration of service. He is survived by his wife and two nephews, Arthur and Clarence Fall of Boston....
> Mr. Fall's experiences in the army were unusually hard, even for a soldier. In the battle of Gettysburg he received a severe wound which has since caused him great suffering. We little knew how much he suffered for he was so patient and uncomplaining.
> His going reminds us again of the fact that the line of the Grand Army of the Republic is growing shorter every year, that the veterans are being mustered out and sent home.
> The remains were taken to Cambridge for interment on Monday.[776]

Based on his Civil War service as a corporal in Co. I, 47th Regiment of the Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, Levi received an invalid pension and his wife a widow's pension.[806] His invalid pension was based on severe soreness of the bladder and kidneys and other scrofulous conditions.[807]

> Funeral Services Over the Remains of Levi W. Fall, Sunday Afternoon
> ...Comrade Fall was born in Lebanon, Maine, enlisted in 1862 when 19 years old in Co. I, Capt. Edwin L. Bird, Forty-seventh Mass. which was attached for one year to Banks' Louisianna expedition. He was promoted to corporal and enjoyed the esteem and confidences of officers and men. Always ready where duty called and a genial companion around the camp fire was the gayest of the gay in song and story, and a favorite in the pastimes that enlivened the dull routine of camp life. He was with the regiment in all its expeditions and like thousands of others who served in the swamps of Louisiana never fully recovered from the effects of the malarial poisoning contracted while there, and the typhoid malarial fever he had in '63 no doubt laid the foundations of the troubles that shortened his life. His death was caused by a sudden attack of pneumonia superinduced by lung fever. He was 49 years, 1 months, 26 days old and leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter to mourn his loss, to whom Post 40, with other fraternities with which he was connected, can say with sympathizing hearts of their departed comrade:
> It needs no lettered marble shaft

> For in the soldier's heart of hearts,
> Is cherished his bright fame.[808]

Widow Lucy married second in Ashby 26 February 1922[821] Edmund T. Flint, died in Ashby 17 January 1937 of cerebral hemorrhage, aged 79 years, 4 months, 3 days,[822] son of Levi E. and Elizabeth M. (Taylor) Flint.

This community was shocked to learn Monday morning of the sudden death of William F. Fall, aged 56 years. He had been ill only two or three days. The funeral at the house on Wednesday was largely attended by neighbors and friends. Quite a number of the I.O.O.F. of which Mr. Fall was a member, were present as representatives of the Order. Rev. H.W. Boyd officiated and music was furnished by a quartet. Mr. Fall moved here with his family from East Boston several years ago and has been a respected and esteemed townsman, whose untimely death is deeply regretted. He leaves a widow and two sons, who have the sincere sympathy of all.

Widow Lucy A. Fall petitioned on 21 January 1904 to be administratrix of her late husband's estate, naming the only two children as the heirs at law: James Arthur Fall of 6 Seaver St., Boston, and Clarence Herbert Fall of Ashby, Mass., minor son.[823]

First wife, Martha, died alone, and was the subject of a brief newspaper report:

> Mrs. Everett E. Fall of Mirror Lake was found dead at her home Thursday afternoon. Doctors were immediately summoned, but found it too late to be of assistance. It is supposed the cause of death was heart failure. She was almost 64 years old. A husband and family survive her.[162]

In his will, made 7 November 1894, Edward E. Fall named Jonathan L. Morrison his executor, and made a bequest of $5 to his daughter Florence H. Brown. The residue went to his daughter Ella Fall and wife Ann Eliza Fall. If either Ella or Ann Eliza died, then his two grandchildren, children of daughter Florence Brown, would receive the deceased heir's part of the residue. The will was proved 4 September 1906.[163]

He served as a private in Co. D., 5th Regiment of the Michigan Infantry during the Civil War and was promoted to Sergeant, Co. B, 10th Regiment on 10 October 1864.[201] As a result of this service, he applied for an invalid pension in 1879.[202] His first application was rejected, and he appealed in 1897 saying the cause of the rejection was the deposition of one Otto Berger "who is mad at the said claimant and...is a very violent and quick tempered man."[203] Further, Berger was a very sick man under the influence of morphine when he made the deposition, and died soon after. In a deposition made 26 July 1884, the following events were stated:

At Williamsburg, Va. May 5, 1862, where I was wounded there was no field hospital or medical attendance of any kind, my wound being received in the first part of the engagement, before any arrangement had been made for the care of the wounded.

In company with others with whom I am unacquainted, I was taken to the James River, and put aboard a boat and sent to Washington, D.A. [sic], where, owing to the crowded state of the hospitals, were forwarded to Philadelphia, Pa., whence for the same reason we were forwarded to New York City, and thence again to Detroit Mich? where I received a 'discharge furlough' from Colonel Smith, then acting in the capacity of Provost Marshal. It then came to Royal Oak Mich. where I had, my wound dressed for the first time since it was received, by Dr. C. Glazier, whose affidavit to that effect is already on file.

In another examination dated 15 September 1887, he stated:

From Detroit Mich. or rather at Ft. Wayne near Detroit where our regiment was organized, we went to Washington D.C., and then to Munson's Hill, Va., from there to camp Michigan, near Alexandria, Va., and remained there until the spring of 1862, when we went to Fort Monroe, where I was taken sick with measles, and sent to a hospital located at a brick building - I do not know whether it was a general hospital or not. I remained there perhaps a week when I joined my command again; this was about April 1862, shortly after we started on the Peninsula campaign with McClellan. We marched from Ft. Monroe, and the first battle our regiment [ ] was Williamsburg Va., where I received my wound. I was struck by a musket ball, within an hour after the fight began I went to the rear by myself, some distance, perhaps 15 rods, and bound my ankle up with my handkerchief. I was wounded between two and three o'clock in the afternoon of May 5, 1862. I remained in the rear of our lines where I went after being wounded, until about dusk, or twilight, when I discovered a tent being raised a short distance from where I was. I went to it and found three or four army surgeons who asked me what was the matter. I told them I was wounded, and they asked me to show them the wound. I did so and they said all right, we will cut your leg off in the morning. I said no you won't, and they said we will if we want to. I left them and went into the woods, spread my blankets down under a tree, and staid there all night. Yes, I slept some, I was very tired. In the morning a little after sunrise my 1st Lieutenant John Knox passed that way and I called to him; he came to me and shortly afterwards an ambulance came along. Lieutenant Knox halted it and assisted me to get into it, and I was taken to the James River. I got out of the ambulance and got on a boat that was there. I do not know the name of the vessel nor the landing where I got on the vessel. There was no one in the ambulance with me, only the driver whose name was George Durkee, who was a member of Co. D, 5th Mich. Vols. Captain Powel of Company F, our regiment was present at the time. Lt. Knox assisted me get into the ambulance, and he gave me a canteen filled with water. I did not see Powell at any time until after I was discharged....

The vessel that I got into had brought Government supplies, and returned with the sick and wounded to Washington D.C. There we were transferred to the cars and went via Baltimore and Philadelphia to New York City, and from there to Detroit, Michigan. From the time I got on the vessel near Williamsburg Va. in the James River, it was some five or six days and perhaps a week when I landed at Detroit Michigan. I had not been in any hospital at any place, nor had my wound been dressed by anyone, nor had any surgeon seen the wound, save those who examined it the evening I received the wound [ ] they would cut my leg off in the morning.

These depositions notwithstanding, it was noted that William Nathan Fall was injured by a scythe while mowing before the war, and his claim was still rejected.

Stating his claim again, William Nathan Fall declared that in March of 1864 he was in charge of a detail of men setting telegraph poles at Knoxville, Tennessee, and he became so afflicted with rheumatism that he was relieved from duty.[204] He is described as being 5 feet 4 inches tall, of light complexion, gray eyes and black hair, and occupation farmer, at the time of his enlistment.[205]

William Nathan Fall Died at his home on Brown street Wednesday evening, Feb. 5, of heart trouble.

Mr. Fall was born on a farm in Southfield, now known as the Dean Farm, in August 1840 and lived there until 16 years of age when he joined the army. He served two and one half years in the 5th Michigan then re-enlisted in General Stone's cavalry where he held the position of Sargeant and served until the close of the war.

July 3, 1876 he was united in marriage to Anna Williamson and their entire married life was spent in Birmingham in the home where he died.

Mr. Fall, although not in very good for the past year, did not give up until Jan. 4th and since that time was confined to his bed. His daughter, Mary of Detroit cared for him during his illness. He is survived by three children, Mary of Detroit, Edward of Orion, and Mrs. Clara Voorheis of Waterford. With the exception of one brother, Homer who was killed during the Civil war, Mr. Fall was the first of 10 children to pass away. The brothers and sisters who survive him are Mrs. Gaylord Simpson of Birmingham, Mrs. Vanehasen of Detroit, Mrs. Miles of Detroit, Mrs. Harris of Big Beaver, Henry Fall of Milford, Frank Fall of Commerce and Mrs. Goodell of Chawson. Mr. Fall's wife having passed away Sept. 6, 1912 and their daughter, Mrs. Ellen Elvira Carson died June 15, 1912.

Mr. Fall held the office of tyler in the Masonic lodge and was a member of the Forester lodge of the [ ] Masonic brothers attended the funeral in a body and had charge of the services. Dr. Jamieson officiated and assisted by Rev. Reid and Rev. H[ ] after which he was laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery beside his wife.[206] learned the trade of carpenter. The gold discovery of California led to his emigration westward in 1849, taking passage at Bangor, Me., on the ship Golconda, commanded by Captain Wood, bound via the Horn for San Francisco, where they arrived November 21 of the same year....In 1853, Mr. Blethen went east and married Lydia N. Fall, and immediately afterward brought her to California, where her death occurred in 1867. They became the parents of six children, namely: Ella, widow of A.J. Sterling of New Hampshire; James E., Jr., engaged as a carpenter in Oakland; Charles H., a stationary engineer in the Zenith mills; Lulu L., wife of Charles H. Layton, of Dover, N.H.; Frank, employed in Taylor's mill in Oakland; and Howard, also employed in a mill. In 1868 Mr. Blethen was united in marriage with Miss Georgietta W. Adams, daughter of an old pioneer. She died in 1900, leaving three children, namely: George W.; Sara E., wife of F.B. Dolbier, of Oakland; and Alice May, wife of George A. Scott. STARBIRD, born in Bowdoinham, Maine, 6 March 1835, died in Everett, Mass., 24 November 1902 of inflammation of the gall bladder, aged 67 years, 8 months, 18 days,[281] daughter of Isaac and Elizabeth (Torrens) Starbird.

The daughter Mary named in this obituary was a step-daughter.[207]

On 27 October 1874, Silas H. and Margaret Fall of Boston sold to Otis A. Jaques of Richmond for $225, eleven acres of land in Belfast, Maine, being land sold to them by O.R. Patterson on 1 October 1866.[282]

Silas H. Fall. This well known citizen died at his residence No. 11 Monument square at two o'clock last Tuesday morning of general paralysis, at the age of 51 years. The disease has been gradually developing for the last five years, at times rendering him unfit for business. He was a native of China, Me., but for the last thirty years he had resided in Charlestown. When he first came to town he entered the employ of John Parsons who carried on the coal business. Afterwards he entered the employ of Parker Fall and in a few years became a partner with him in the wood, coal and hay business. Still later he formed a copartnership with his brother George, but for the last five years he has carried on business without a partner, his wharf being located on Medford street. He was a member of the Bunker Hill Baptist church. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. W.O. Holman conducted the services and at the close the remains were taken to Woodlawn Cemetery for interment. The deceased leaves a wife and three children.[283]

Margaret T. Fall of Boston, petitioned for administration of the estate of her late husband on 3 May 1879.[284]

ABBOTT, born 1830, died in North Berwick, Maine, 15 August 1912, of rectal cancer, aged 82 years, 4 days,[423] daughter of Nathaniel and Rhoda (Billings) Abbott.

Isaac was a Captain in Co. B., 27th Regiment, of Maine Volunteers, and Co. F., 31st Regt., Maine Volunteers, and Co. F, 32nd Regt., Maine Volunteers. His first service began 10 September 1862 and his second on 17 July 1863.[424] He volunteered "in the field" in Virginia (evidently for his final term of service), on 20 April 1864 and was honorably discharged at Alexandria, Virginia 15 July 1865.[425] He was 5 feet 11 inches tall, of light complexion, blue eyes, dark hair, and his occupation had been as a truckman.[426]

Isaac received an invalid pension on 29 August 1891[427] and his widow received a pension starting 17 September 1909,[428] based on this service. Isaac petitioned that he was crippled by rheumatism and malarial poisoning.[429]

In his will of 30 March 1899, Isaac bequeathed to Sarah A. his wife, his house and lot in South Berwick for her natural life, then to son Isaac Elmer Fall, and daughters Sarah F. Goodwin, wife of Charles E. Goodwin, and Sibyl Emma Brierly, wife of Joseph Brierly, equal shares of the estate after his widow's death.[430]

> Capt. Isaac P. Fall, one of South Berwick's oldest, best known and most respected citizens, died at his home on Academy street Friday morning, August 20th, at about eight o'clock, aged 79 years, 6 months, and 1 day.
> Although in failing health for a number of years, Mr. Fall had been confined to his bed but three weeks, death being due to a complication of diseases and his advanced age.
> Capt. Fall was born in North Berwick, Me., the son of Humphrey and Sarah (Abbott) Fall, and received his education in the schools of his native town. In 1850 he was united in marriage to Sarah Ann Abbott, and they resided in Berwick for a number of years.
> Removing with his family to South Berwick, Capt. Fall was for many years in business as a coal merchant, and he was also widely known as a mover of buildings, undertaking the largest contracts of anyone in this section. On account of ill health he retired from active business about fifteen years ago.
> A resident of South Berwick for over half a century, Capt. Fall was one of its most prominent citizens, and in his younger days one of the strong men of the community. He was especially active in the early history of the fire department, being its chief for many years.
> Of sterling character and rigid honesty, a man whose word was as good as his bond, during his long and useful life Capt. Fall gained the respect and esteem of all who knew him and the bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community.

A veteran of the Civil War, Capt. Fall's military record was a long and honorable one. He responded to the call for volunteers and was a member of the 27th Reg't of Maine Volunteers which was mustered into service at Portland, Sept. 3, 1862. In response to the wishes of his comrades Mr. Fall was made Captain of Co. B. of the 27th.

On the return and mustering out of the 27th, Capt. Fall was transferred to the 30th Maine, and was successively a Captain in the 30th, 31st and 32nd, and with these regiments participated in many of the important engagements of the war. During the engagement at Petersburg, Va., which followed the mining and blowing up of the Confederate fort of that name, on July 30, 1864, Capt. Fall was taken prisoner and confined in Columbia jail, South Carolina, for several months, being released on parole shortly before the close of the war.

Capt. Fall was one of the oldest members of the Masonic fraternity in South Berwick, being made a master mason in St. John's lodge, No. 51, F. & A.M., on April 4, 1865. He was one of the charter members of Unity Royal Arch Chapter, No. 32, which was constituted on July 13, 1869, and was also a Sir Knight of St. Paul Commandery, Knights Templar, of Dover. Deceased is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Charles E. Goodwin of Kane, Ia.; Mrs. Emma Brierly of South Berwick; one son, Isaac Elmer Fall of North Berwick; and a brother, Mr. Philander H. Fall of South Berwick.

Funeral services were held from the late home Sunday afternoon and were largely attended. Rev. A.E. Kingsley, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated, and spoke words of comfort to the bereaved relatives and in eulogy of the departed.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The bearers were Messrs A. Grafton Nealley, Samuel Miller, James W. Hobbs and Joseph L. Lord, from St. John's Lodge. The remains were interred in the family burial lot in the Old Portland street cemetery.[431]

Mrs. Nancy Fall Lord, wife of Ezekiel S. Lord died at her home on Pine Hill at a little before 7 o'clock last night.

She was taken ill with pneumonia about a week ago and this together with heart trouble caused her death.

She was just 76 years of age, and died on her birthday. The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. A more complete obituary will appear later.[490]

Ezekiel F. Lord passed away on Thursday night at the home of Geo. A. Mathews, on the back South Berwick road, at the age of 87. He is survived by a son, Eugene Lord of Berwick, grandchildren, Hattie, Arthur, Ernest, Lester and Chester Mathews, and two great-grandchildren, Mildred and Harold Mathews.

Mr. Lord had spent the greater part of his older years with his daughter, Mrs. George Mathews, who passed beyond but six weeks ago. Pneumonia was the cause of death, and the deceased was ill but about a week with his last sickness. Mr. Lord was well known and respected, having served in a Maine Regiment of the Civil war.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 on Monday afternoon by Rev. E.F. Doughty, pastor of the School Street M.E. church, where the deceased attended while his health permitted.

Funeral Director Spencer has charge of arrangements, with interment in Evergreen cemetery.[491]

LIBBY, born 8 August 1867, died in Boston, Mass., 18 March 1934, of uterine cancer, aged 67 years, 7 months, 11 days,[525] daughter of Philander Hartwell and Mary L. (Lougee) Libbey.

In the will of his mother, Oscar received the residue of her estate. [526]

Oscar Ellsworth Fall, 95, Berwick's oldest male citizen and Boston Post cane holder, died Saturday afternoon at his home on Pine Hill road following a year of gradually failing health. Mr. Fall was born Jan. 16, 1861, at the old Fall homestead on Pine Hill, the youngest son of the late Tristram and Mary T. (Paul) Fall. He had always lived in that section of town and attended Berwick schools.

Mr. Fall was a descendant of John Fall, Thomas Roberts, William Thompson, Daniel Paul, John Heard, and other early settlers of the Kittery-Dover area. His great-grandfather was Lt. Tristram Fall, Jr., a Revolutionary War veteran.

The deceased served the town as a selectman and overseer of the poor for two years. He was a farmer and lumberman and at the age of 75 he worked in the woods on lumber operations with a pair of horses. At 90 he walked to Portsmouth from Berwick for "the exercise" to visit his daughter. The following day he walked back to Dover Point, where he took a bus home after deciding that he had walked enough. He was a familiar figure trudging around the countryside on foot.

Mr. Fall was the oldest member of the Berwick Methodist church, having joined the congregation on April 6, 1884. He served the church for many years on the board of trustees. On December 30, 1890, he married Miss Maud L. Libbey of Berwick, who died in 1934.

Survivors include a son, Arthur E. Fall, with whom he resided; a daughter, Mrs. Lena F. Whitaker of Portsmouth; eight grandchildren, Raymond and Kenneth Whitaker, Ellsworth and Carolyn Fall, all of Berwick, Mrs. Marion Andrews and Wilbur Whitaker, both of Eliot; Ellsworth Whitaker of Reading, Mass.; and Roland Whitaker of Portsmouth; 15 great-grandchildren; one great-great-granddaughter; several nieces and also nephews.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 in the Prentice chapel with Rev. Paul N. Youngholm minister of the Berwick Methodist church, officiating. Entombment will be held in the Hill Memorial chapel in the Evergreen cemetery, here. Bearers will be Norman Andrews, Leslie Hurd, Laurence Morrill, and Leland Knox. The Lawrence Prentice Funeral home is in charge of the arrangements.[527]

ii. ARTHUR E., born in Berwick, Maine, 10 February 1898; died 5 November 1988, aged 90 years[531]; married in Berwick by Rev. Ernest Doughty 17 December 1919[532] EVA McKAY, born in Wakefield, N.H., about 1901, died in Berwick May 1976, aged 75 years,[533] daughter of Henry and Frances (Dexter) McKay. Four children: Ellsworth A., Dana Carlton (died aged 2), Carolyn E. and Granville Nelson (died at birth). Arthur registered for WWI.

268. GEORGE FRANKLIN[6] FALL (Hezekiah[5], Ebenezer[4], Tristram[3-2], John[1]), born about 1834; died in Berwick, Maine, 16 December 1894 of abdominal injury from the kick of a horse, aged 61 years, 5 months, 9 days[534]; married LUCY ELLEN MELCHER, died in Berwick 26 March 1917 of grippe and old age, aged 86 years,[535] daughter of Edward and Relief (Rogers) Melcher.

Last Tuesday, George Fall, of Berwick, Me., went into his stable to feed his horse and when going in the stall beside the animal was thrown down and trampled upon.

He was severely injured before he was able to get up and out of the stall, and only got to the house to fall exhausted at the door.

A physician, was called and everything possible done, but there was no chance to save his life, and he died yesterday, aged 58 years, leaving a wife and six children to mourn his departure.[536]

Mrs. Lucy Allen Malcher Fall, widow of the late George Franklin Fall, died on Sunday at her home on Pine Hill, Berwick, in her 87th year. The cause of her death was a general breaking up due to old age. Her final illness, however, was of only about six weeks' duration.

Mrs. Fall was born in Carroll county September 16, 1830, and was one of a family of ten children. Her parents were Edward and Relief (Rogers) Malcher. When she was quite young her parents removed to Lancaster, where she attended school. When a young woman she came here to work in the mill, traveling all the way by stage, as there was no railroad between here and Lancaster in those days. About 1853 she was married to Mr. Fall, who died some years ago. Of the five children born to them, four are now living. Mrs. George Fred Hodgdon of this city, and Mrs. Edward F. Lord, Mrs. W.B. Cook, and Charlie A. Fall of Berwick. One sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Young of Massachusetts, also survives.

She was not a member of the Berwick M.E. church, but was an attendant at its services and interested in its welfare. She was a member of Lady Franklin Lodge, D. of R. In her younger days Mrs. Fall went far and near to minister to the sick or troubled, and was always looking for an opportunity to do good.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the home under the auspices of Lady Franklin Lodge. Rev. W.F. Holmes officiated, and Mrs. C.E. Shaw sang. The interment was in Evergreen cemetery, Berwick.[537]

Mr. Reuben M. Hersam, of High street, passed away Thursday morning, Feb. 21, at 3:15, after a long and painful illness, aged 68 yrs., 6 mos. and 14 ds.

Mr. Hersam was a native of Waterville, Me., but had lived in Stoneham for 40 years. During the early days of the California excitement, he spent four years, 1855 to 1859, in that country. Some years ago he went to Maine and engaged in farming, but returned a few years ago and had resided on High street since that time.

Reuben Hersam was a faithful and hard working man. Consciencious and scrupulously honest in his dealings, he lived the life of a law-abiding citizen, and his reputation is above reproach. He was an earnest member of the Methodist Episcopal church and an exemplary Christian. He belonged to the Masonic Fraternity and was an enthusiastic member of Crescent Chapter No. 44, Order of the Eastern Star. In all of these orders he took an interest, and when in health, life was, with him, emphatically worth living.

Disease finally laid him upon his bed, where, for many weary days, he endured patiently until the end came.

A widow, two sons, Alfred R., of Somerville, and George A., of Dartmouth College, N.H., with three sisters, Margaret Hersam, of Lebanon, Me., Sarah Tibbetts, of Putnam, Conn., and Mrs. Rose Bruce, of Townsend, are the surviving relatives.

The funeral services, on Sunday next, will be prayers at the late residence of the deceased at 2 p.m. and services at the M.E. church at 3 p.m., Rev. Mr. Ward officiating. The burial will be at Lindenwood cemetery.

Friends invited to attend the services at the church without further notice.

Mrs. H. Abbie Hersam, a resident of Stoneham for more than sixty years and living at 11 High St., passed away at the home of her son, George A. Hersam, 109 Summer St., Tuesday, Feb. 3. Mrs. Hersam was born in Berwick, Maine, 85 years ago, Jan. 9, 1840. She was the widow of Reuben M. Hersam. Mrs. Hersam was a member of the Methodist Church, was active in the W.C.T.U. and the Loyal Temperance Legion, the Ladies Aid and W.F.M.S. She was a member of the Christian Missionary Alliance for forty years and supported a native missionary in India for twenty years.

The funeral services were held at the home of her son on Summer St., Friday, Feb. 6, at 2:00 o'clock, Rev. M.M. Thornburg officiating. Miss Lila Martin sang suitable selections.[551]

Mrs. Lucy Anna Cullen, aged 89, died last night at the Pentucket Nursing home, Columbus avenue, after an illness of three months. She was born in Berwick, Me., and had lived nearly all her life in greater Haverhill.

Charles T. Fall served as a private in the Signal Corps during the Civil War, having enlisted 12 April 1864 and being discharged at Fort Levenworth, Kansas, 9 December 1865.[568] At the time of his enlistment, he was described as 5 feet 11 inches tall, blue eyes, dark hair, light complexion, no occupation.[569] Based on this service he applied for an invalid pension.[570] While moving a one thousand pound bell off a truck in 1891, it fell and fractured his leg below the knee. This compounded by a hernia and other injuries suffered during the war, was sufficient evidence for a pension.

> Charles T. Fall, commander of Abraham Lincoln post, G.A.R., died yesterday at his home, 26 Cordis street, Charlestown, after a long illness. He was born seventy-six years ago in Charlestown and served for two years in the Civil War with the Signal Corps. He was a member of the old Charlestown Schoolboys' Association, Olive Branch lodge of Odd Fellows, Veteran Odd Fellows' Association and the Charlestown Veteran Fireman's Association. He is survived by two sons, Frank O. Fall and George A. Fall, and a brother, Frank O. Fall.[571] in Topsham 25 August 1905 of gastric cancer, aged 78 years, 11 months, 22 days,[635] daughter of Alexander and Hannah (Jordon) McIntosh.

Jonathan was a Civil War Union veteran, serving as a lieutenant in Company D, the fifth infantry.[636] At enlistment, his complexion was light, his eyes were hazel and his hair auburn.[637] He was promoted to Captain 23 April 1863 and resigned 2 May 1863. He re-enlisted, then left the service in January 1865.[638] He was Captain of Company B, 9th Maine Infantry and Company H, 30th Maine Infantry, and his grave is marked with a Civil War marker.[639]

In his pension application documents, it stated that he had been sick at New Orleans in June of 1864. On the march into the Red River, he became disabled by taking a severe cold which settled in his head and ears, causing a partial deafness of both ears, brought on by exposure and hardship incident to army life. He was also sick on furlough to Topsham in August of that year with chronic diarrhea and intermittent fever.[640] Although he tried to prove these illnesses, he was unable to get the deposition of the regimental or assistant surgeon who treated him because both were dead.[641]

At the end of his life, Jonathan was severely afflicted with diarrhea and his children made a general affidavit on 28 December 1903, that care of him was very difficult and that he could "live but a short time." At his death, his benefits were paid to his widow, Hannah.[642]

Hannah Fall of Topsham made her will on 22 October 1900, leaving bequests to her son John C. Fall of Lynn, Mass., son George O. Fall of Lynn, Mass., daughter Mrs. L.H. McHugh of Boston, Mass., and real estate to husband J.P.C. Fall, and residue to son William A. Fall of Topsham, who was also named executor.[643]

HIRAM E. LORD, born in Lebanon, 3 January 1830,[741] died in Berwick, Maine, 27 March 1907 of exhaustion following pneumonia, aged 77 years, 2 months, 25 days,[742] son of James and Lucy (Emery) Lord.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Lord, widow of the late Hiram Lord of Berwick, died Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W.T. Richards, at Erving, Mass. She had been ill but a day or two, her death being due to an apoplectic shock, induced by heart trouble. Mrs. Lord was born in Lebanon, Maine, August 29, 1830, her parents being Isaac and Martha (Pray) Fall. She was educated in the schools of her native town and later taught there for some time. She was married about 60 years ago to Hiram Lord of Lebanon, where they passed the greater part of their married life, moving to Berwick 15 years or more ago. Since Mr. Lord's death, about four years ago, Mrs. Lord has made her home with her daughter. She was a member of the Lebanon and North Berwick Baptist church, which she joined many years ago. A son and daughter, James Lord of Lebanon and Mrs. W.T. Richards of Erving, Mass., survive her, another son, Herbert, having died thirteen years ago. She also leaves a brother, Stephen Fall of East Rochester, and a sister, Mrs. Swasey of Exeter. The funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of her son, and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Knowles, pastor of the church of which she was a member. The interment was in Evergreen cemetery. Mrs. Lord was of a quiet and retiring nature, finding her greatest enjoyment in her family and her home. To those who knew her there will always remain the memory of a good mother and a true friend.[743]

William[8] Emery (William[7-6], Caleb[5-4], Daniel[3], James[2], Anthony[1]), son of William and Elizabeth (Emery) Emery, was born in Sanford, March 15, 1823, and died in Alfred, August 31, 1889. After attending Alfred, North Yarmouth, and Phillips (Andover) Academies, he studied law with various preceptors, and at the Harvard Law School, and was admitted to the York County bar in May, 1847. From that time until August, 1848, he practiced in

Biddeford; then at Lebanon until 1871; and in Alfred to the time of his death. He held a number of town offices in both Lebanon and Alfred; was Representative from Sanford and Lebanon in 1854; and in 1878 was elected county attorney by the Greenbackers and Democrats combined. In 1888 he was the Democratic nominee for Congress. Mr. Emery was a successful lawyer, and was kind-hearted and benevolent, contributing liberally toward religious and charitable objects. He married Harriet W. Fall of Lebanon, who, with one daughter, Mrs. John B. Donovan, survives him.[746]

...Henry F. Rall of Lebanon, York County, was a member of Co. D and Sergeant ranking next to myself. I knew him both during his service and before his enlistment. He was a young man of steady habits and during his service was always prompt and faithful to his duties. His health was good being a strong and robust man. He was always able to discharge his duties until sometime as near as I can remember in the latter part of the month of June he received a sun stroke as we term it while in the performance of his duties on Company drill Camp Chantilly near Centerville June 1863. I being in command of the company at the time. The heat of the sun overcame him so he was unable at that time to do his duties and was under the care of the surgeon of the Regiment, Dr. Kimball, until the discharge of the Regiment at Portland. From my knowledge of him and his family I should not hesitate in giving it as my opinion that the trouble which he has with his head was the result of the sun stroke while in the army....[754]

Walter Darling, 16 May 1867[775] LOTTIE E. COBBIE, died in Kennebunk, Maine, 28 April 1903 of dry gangrene, aged 50 years, 5 months, 3 days,[776] daughter of John and B.A. (Garvin) Cobby; married second as her second husband at Prescott, Yarapai Co., Arizona, 11 June 1895[777] BERTHA THIERS.

Frank enlisted at Charlestown Navy Yard 25 July 1863 and served on the N.S. sailing frigate St. Lawrence and the ship Minnesota and the iron clad Allenlee.[778] Based on injury to his left leg during service, both he and his widow received pensions.[779]

The widow Cobby lived alone in a two-story house until her daughter, Mrs. Fall, who had been living in Washington, D.C., came home to live with her. Mrs. Fall brought her daughter of school age, named Beatrice, but always known in the family as Trixy, and a son, Harry, quite a bit older. Mrs. Cobby owned the house, financed the family, did most of the work and called the shots. Mrs. Fall appeared to be permanently indisposed, but whether this was due to some disappointments in her married life, or some imagined physical disability, or just to inclination, we are not informed. Our judgment would be that it was entirely inclination. Trixy seemed normal enough. Harry was clever with tools and might have been a skilled carpenter, but he plied his trade only on a very few minor jobs, which he executed strictly as a favor. What he preferred to do was to swing gently in his hammock, hung in the shade of two trees and smoke his pipe.

Trixy convinced herself that a very scholarly and dignified resident of Zion's Hill was violently in love with her. We are convinced that the person referred to went through life wholly unconscious of the turmoil he had created in the mind of another, and think it is possible that he did not even know her. This obsession progressed rather than abated, and finally reached the stage that she was taken to Augusta, where she later died. The

About half past eleven Friday forenoon of last week, members of the family of William A. Fall of Lebanon, heard the report of a pistol in the room where Mr. Fall, seventy-nine years of age and in poor health, was lying in bed. Rushing to his bedside, they found that while suffering from despondency the aged gentleman had secured a small revolver and shot himself through the right temple. Dr. Murray was called but Mr. Fall had expired within twenty minutes after firing the fatal shot. Coroner Luther A. Hurd of Sanford was notified and decided that no inquest was necessary as it was a plain case of suicide while despondent. Services were held Tuesday afternoon. A wife and several children are left to mourn the loss of husband and father.[806]

Shutesbury, Mass., 16 September 1875,[839] son of Charles L. and Sadie (Tillson) Woodworth.

295. MARY AUSTIN[6] FALL (Adoniram[5], Stephen[4-3], Tristram[2], John[1]), born in Lebanon, Maine 14 July 1841; died in Norton, Mass., 19 May 1935 of arteriosclerosis, aged 93 years, 10 months, 5 days[840]; married OLIVER NASON, born in Lebanon 22 April 1840,[841] died in Norton, 11 August 1920 of a cerebral hemorrhage, aged 80 years,[842] son of Peter and Sarah (Goodwin) Nason.

Word was received last evening of the death of Oliver Nason at the home of his son in Norton, Mass. A week ago, Mr. Nason had a cerebral hemorrhage and was confined to his bed until he passed away Wednesday, August 11, 1920. Mr. and Mrs. Nason went from Dover in June, after residing in this city many years, to live with their son, Mr. Elwin Nason, in Norton, Mass. The surviving relatives are one son, Elwin Nason, two grandchildren, Dura W. Nason and Mrs. Katherine Cheetham of Norton, Mass., five great grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Henry D. Freeman of this city. Services will be at the residence of Mrs. Freeman, 621 Central avenue at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and interment will be in the family lot in Lebanon, Maine.[843]

This town lost one of its oldest residents last night when Mrs. Mary A. Nason of Smith St. passed away in her 94th year. Although her last illness was of short duration, she has been in failing health since the first of the year.

Born in East Lebanon, Maine, July 14, 1841, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adoniram Fall, she was one of a family of nine children. She was united in marriage with Oliver Nason in 1859 and the couple lived in Somersworth, N.H., for a short time later moving to Dover, N.H., where they lived many years. They came to Norton in 1920 and in August of that year Mr. Nason passed away. Mrs. Norton continued to make her home in this town until her death.

She was a woman of boundless activity and her handiwork has long been admired for a person of her years. One of her special hobbies was Braiding Rugs, she was working on a new one just before her death. She was a member of the Trinitarian Congregational Parish and recently worked on some quilts for the What So Ever Club. She had a remarkedly keen mind and memory and had an interest in World Affairs. The survivors are one son Elwin Nason, 2 grandchildren, Mrs. Catherine Cheetham and D. Wadsworth Nason, 9 great grandchildren, Anne and Alice Cheetham, Charles Cheetham, Charles, Donald Betty Ethel, Alfred, Malcom Nason, neices and nephews, in Maine, N.H., and Mass.

Funeral held Tuesday in the house in which she was born in East Lebanon and burial will be in East Lebanon.[844]

Theodore Stevens, 3 February 1863[848] MARY ELIZABETH PIERCE, born in Lebanon 27 December 1848, died in Berwick, Maine, 29 July 1938 of pneumonia, aged 89 years, 7 months, 2 days,[849] daughter of Leighton and Melinde (Ford) Pierce.

Melvin volunteered and served as a private and a corporal in the Maine 3rd Corps, 17th Division, Maine infantry. He enlisted 18 August 1862 at Lebanon, Maine, and was discharged at the end of the war, 10 June 1865. He applied for an invalid pension and his widow applied for a widow's pension.[850]

In his application, Melvin stated that during a retreat one night in November [year not given], he fell and was run over by many men and horses, resulting in a bad back. He also suffered from rheumatism and ague fever from exposure and took a serious blow to his right knee that nearly crippled him.[851]

Melvin entered the Old Soldier's Home at Togus, Maine, when he was 69 years old. At that time he was 5 foot 8 inches tall, dark complexion, blue eyes, gray hair, a farmer, with symptoms of acute alcoholism and a morphine habit, chronic bronchitis, and an old fracture of his right leg.[852]

297. PLUMMER C.[6] FALL (Adoniram[5], Stephen[4-3], Tristram[2], John[1]), shoemaker and farmer, born in Lebanon, Maine, 10 June 1848; died at Togus, Maine, 21 June 1916 of cancer of the lower jaw[904]; married in Georgetown, Mass., 11 October 1868[905] FRANCES E. BUCKMINSTER, born in Boxford, Mass., 25 January 1851, died in Georgetown 16 May 1894, aged 43 years, 3 months, 25 days, of tuberculosis,[906] daughter of John Blake and Mary Jane (Byers) Buckminster.

Plummer C. Fall was one of ten children. His parents, three brothers and one sister, as well as his grandparents, are buried in a private graveyard on the Stephen Fall (now Pray) Farm on Fall Road in East Lebanon, Maine.

During the Civil War, Plummer enlisted in the United States Army at Dover, N.H., on 30 August 1864, for the period of one year. He was 18 years old, with blue eyes, brown hair and light complexion. He was 5 feet 8 3/4 inches tall. He received a bounty of $100.00 and was mustered in at Concord, N.H., becoming a private in Company D, 1st Regiment Heavy Artillery. He was mustered out at Washington, D.C., on 15 June 1865.

In October, 1868, Plummer, a shoemaker, married Frances Ella Buckminster and made their home in Georgetown, Mass. He was 21 and she was 18. Of their seven children, four survived to adulthood.

In 1890, Plummer applied for an invalid pension, indicating that he was unable to earn his support by manual labor by reason of rheumatism and heart disease, even though he was only 42 years old.

Again in 1897, while living in Sanford, Maine, he applied for an invalid pension because of rheumatism, dislocation of elbow, and eczema. Apparently, this application was successful for the following year he was required to complete certain forms required of all pensioners.[907]

In 1910 he completed a Declaration For Pension form, required by a revision of the pension laws. At that time he was living in Stoneham, Mass., on he indicated the places he had lived since separating from the service:

Lebanon, Maine	September 1865
Dover, New Hampshire	to December 1865
Danvers, Massachusetts	to April 1867
Georgetown, Massachusetts	to May 1894
Springvale, Maine	to April 1898
Stoneham, Massachusetts	to the present (1910)

In Stoneham, he lived with his daughter, Lilla Jane (Fall) Abbott and her family. During the winter months, he worked at the tannery on Spencer Street, diagonally across from his residence. In the warmer months, he worked on farms in the Sanford, Maine, area. Late in the Fall, he would have a small barrel of winter vegetables transported to his daughter and family in Stoneham. He was also known to sing outside his daughter's home on Hancock Street early Sunday mornings, which greatly annoyed his daughter, and possibly the neighbors.

During this same period, both his son Fred and daughter Mary lived in Stoneham. Fred was a widower, having lost his wife, Josephine Byron, shortly after the birth of their only child, Frederick Jr. Mary had married Charles Brown and lived on Minot Street. Later, she moved to Ashland and then to Natick, Massachusetts.

In January 1915, Plummer went to live in the Eastern Branch, National Home for Disabled Veterans in Togus, Maine. He resided there until his death in June 1916, at the age of 67, from cancer of the lip, allegedly from pipe smoking. He was buried in Harmony Cemetery, Georgetown, Massachusetts.

> Fannie E. Buckminster, wife of Plummer Fall, died from consumption Wednesday morning. She had been very ill all the spring and part of the winter, and for weeks her demise has been daily expected. 1888[912] EDWARD MAGUIRE, heelmaker, born in Newbury, Mass., 29 July 1866,[913] son of Patrick and Ellen (Mitchell) Maguire. No children.

Sunday afternoon last, people were again astonished by the report that Edith M., wife of Edward Maguire, was dead. It was generally known that she had some weeks ago a severe attack of influenza, that she apparently recovered and was about her work at home and occasionally upon the street. She was out Saturday evening settling the weekly indebtedness of the household. On her return she was taken with a severe pain in the chest which could not be relieved. She grew worse through the night and died about 2 o'clock. Her physician pronounced her disease inflammation of stomach and bowels and enlargement of the heart.

The deceased was the eldest daughter of Plummer and Frances Buckminster Fall and was born in Georgetown August 25, 1870. She lived until her marriage Nov. 24, 1888 in Old District 4 (Brick School) and was a good scholar. She was endowed with an amiable disposition, vivacious and sportive and universally esteemed. Since her marriage she with her husband had established a pleasant home, lived happily in each other's love and enjoyed the respect and esteem of her neighbors. She leaves no children but the blow falls with crushing weight upon her young husband, her father and mother, her brothers and sisters, and a large circle of friends and acquaintances in Georgetown, her birthplace, and in Rowley, her adopted home. The funeral took place Wednesday and was attended by Rev. O.S. Butler of Georgetown, who knowing the deceased from childhood as a pupil in the public schools, a young woman and a wife, spoke eloquent words of eulogy. A large concorse of people attended and the remains were followed to Georgetown by a long train of mourning friends. At Harmony cemetery they were met by townspeople to the number of over a hundred. The casket was opened and an opportunity was afforded to look upon the face of the dead....[914]

Widow Louise petitioned to be administratrix of her husband's estate, which consisted of a $500 bank account at Somersworth Savings.[922]

> On Friday morning of last week the sad news spread rapidly that Mr. Charles Fall had passed away at three o'clock that morning. He had enjoyed his usual health of late, until the first part of the week, when he seemed somewhat ill for a day or two. Then he engaged in his work as usual. On Thursday he was in the best of spirits, and unusually bright and social, retiring in that state. At three o'clock in the morning his wife had notice of his death only by a few struggling breaths. The members of the family were hastily called, but the body was lifeless. This sudden blow has nearly prostrated the entire family, who in their home life were the most tender and affectionate. Mr. Fall was a home man and after attending strictly to business and work his evenings were always with his wife at home, so the blow falls more sadly upon her. His age was 49 years and 10 months.
> Twenty-seven years ago Mr. Fall married Miss Louisa Hall of North Berwick, who survives him with four children, Leon, who lives at home; Mrs. Bertha Thompson, Portsmouth, N.H.; and Misses Ethel and Emma. He also leaves two grand-children, Mildred and Edna Thompson. He was one of eight sons of the late Hiram Fall. One sister, Mrs. Mary Nason of Dover, N.H., and five brothers survive him, Stephen, of Somersworth; Howard of North Berwick; Plummer of Stoneham, Mass., and William and Melvin of this place.
> Mr. Fall was a very industrious and prosperous farmer, and his presence on our streets, in church and society will be greatly missed, but that is not to be compared with the loss in his late home.
> Funeral services were held at the home Sunday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Maider spoke words of consolation and joined in singing with Clinton Libby, Mr. and Mrs. Meserve, Mrs. A.S. Hanscom and Misses Gertie and Lettie Libby,...was laid to rest in the pleasant lot on the hill near the home.[923] was married to Nancy J. McDaniel, and they moved immediately to the farm he occupied until his death. Mr. Falls was a veteran of the Civil War. He is survived by his wife and eight children, three daughters, Mrs. Hattie Carter, Mrs. Myrtle Sieweke, Mrs. Grace Goings; and five sons, George, Stephen, Frank A., Charley and John Falls. Burial was in the West Scipio cemetery.[971]

As stated in last week's Review, Mr. John Falls, one of Anderson county's pioneer settlers, passed away, at 11 a.m., after a sickness of several months.

The funeral took place Friday, at 3 p.m., at the home, the farm on which Mr. Falls lived more than seventy years. Rev. J.R. McNabb, of Richmond, officiated at the services. The remains were conveyed from the home to the West Scipio cemetery, and there laid away at rest, surrounded by relatives and friends who had preceded him in death - men and women who were also pioneers of the Scipio neighborhood. A few old residents attended the funeral services, and many friends of later years followed the remains to their last resting place.

John Falls was born June 17, 1842, at Limbrek, Maine, and he reached the ripe age of eighty-five years, eleven months and seven days.

He came with his parents to what is now the Pres C. Doll place, at the age of seventeen. At the age of twenty-eight years, he was united in marriage with Nancy J. McDaniel, January 27, 1870, moving immediately to the farm he occupied at the time of his death. Of this union were born twelve children, four of whom died in infancy. He leaves to mourn their loss his devoted, loving wife and eight children.

The wife and two children, Mrs. Hattie Carter, of Libby, Mont., and George Falls, of the home address, were at the bed-side constantly during his long sickness of about five months. Besides the above-named are Mrs. Myrtle Seieweke, and Mrs. Grace Goings, Santa Ana, Calif.; Stephen, of El Modena, Calif.; Frank A., of Whittier, Calif.; Charley of Libby, and John of Coffey Creek, Mont. One son, Stephen, was at his father's bedside a while during his early sickness.

Mr. Falls served his country three years during the Civil war, and was honorably discharged at the close of the war.

He endured the many long weeks of suffering with unusual patience.

He will be greatly missed in the home and by the many neighbors and kind friends.

"A dear one from our home has gone;
his place can ne'er be filled;
But may we each one be content
With what the Lord has willed."

Mr. Falls was a most excellent citizen, honorable and upright in all of his dealings with his fellow men, and he was held in the highest esteem by everyone.[972]

Funeral services for Mrs. Nancy J. Falls, 85 years old, were held Saturday afternoon at the home near Scipio, conducted by the Rev. Hugh Neville, of Richmond, Mrs. Falls died December 10 after a long illness. Burial was in the West Scipio cemetery, under the direction of the Farris Undertaking Co.

Nancy J. McDaniel, daughter of John and Mary McDaniel, was born February 1, 1851, at Danville, Ind. In 1856 the McDaniel family came to Anderson county in a covered wagon and became prominent pioneers of this county. Nancy J. McDaniel was married to John Falls, also an early settler, on January 27 1870. In that year Mr. and Mrs. Falls moved into the house near Scipio where Mrs. Falls lived until her death sixty-six years later.

John served as a private in Company D, 6th Regiment of the N.H. Volunteer Infantry during the Civil War, and died of disease in the service at Annapolis. Lucretia received a widow's pension.[1003] This pension was challenged by an anonymously sent letter in 1889 which stated that Lucretia had been living for years with one John F. Hanson as his wife without being married because marriage would stop her pension.[1004] The examiner sent to investigate promptly wrote back to Washington that unless "the fact that pensioner and Hanson live in the same house is evidence of adulterous cohabitation," he found no foundation for the charges, and was so strongly of that opinion that he never acquainted the widow with the proceedings.[1005]

At her death, Lucretia left Plummer F. Fall as her son and only heir.[1006]

He spent the early part of his childhood on the family farm and attended the District School, later on attending the Academy in a nearby town, at which he taught for a few years after he graduated.

He was employed along with his father and brother, John H. (a long time resident of Stoneham), as a member of the Bridge and Building crew on the old Northern Railroad (now the Conway and Wolfboro branches of the Boston and Maine), leaving their employ in 1872 to work in Boston on the building now occupied by Kennedy, the Clothier, on Summer Street, after that section of the city was burned up during the "big fire."

After living in Charlestown for a few months he started rooming with a family on Minot Street, Stoneham, where he met and later married Mary A. Barker of Londonderry, N.H.
Shortly before he was married, his father died and he moved back to Lebanon to the old farm and a son, the late Charles B. Fall, was born.

His mother passed away during the year 1882 and after selling out the old farm he again returned to Stoneham, living in the house next to the Methodist Church, where his son, Frederick R. Fall, was born and with whom he has been making his home for the past few years.
He worked with the late Eben Lawrence, E. Porter Dodge, John Hibbard and Daniel McEchern for John Spencer and specimens of this crew's handiwork are still to be seen in some of the best houses in Stoneham, among which are homes now or formerly owned by Dr. Cowdrey, Aaron Hill, Arad Gerry and many others.

About twenty-five years ago he entered the employ of Tufts College and remained there until five years ago when he resigned and retired from active work at the age of 76.
In 1918, his son Charles, died and from then on he began to show signs of growing years and in 1923 when his wife died he practically gave up work, taking long leaves of absence from his work at the College and spending the winter at North Adams, Mass., with his son, Frederick.

Five years ago he gave up work entirely and lived with his son who had moved to Greenfield, although he did, until 1929, keep a room with Mr. Guy Trombetta as his legal residence.

About two years ago he sustained a slight shock and has not been able to make long trips since and kept to the house most of the time. On May 29th he came down to breakfast as usual and appeared to be as well as he had been. During the morning he got out of his big rocking chair and in some way he fell, striking his head on the foot of the couch. After supper he fell again in the living room, this time on his face, badly bruising his cheek and nose.

The doctor was called who thought it best to take him to the Franklin County Hospital at Greenfield, which was done. He did not respond to treatment and passed away Monday morning, June 15 about 4 o'clock.

He leave his son, Frederick; two granddaughters, Phyllis and Lillian of Greenfield, and twin grandsons, Robert and David, of Beverly.

He was a member of Columbian Lodge 29, I.O.O.F., of Stoneham, was elected and served as Noble Grand for the term ending January 1892. He joined the order in Stoneham in October 1875 and was presented with the 50 year jewel in 1925. He was also a member of Evergreen Rebekah Lodge No. 19 for 41 years, and a member of the Congregational Church. He served as a Trustee of the Church from January 1, 1920, to January 1, 1924, as well as auditor at one time.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 2:30 PM at the First Congregational Church with Rev. John H. Miller officiating. Columbian Lodge conducted its services. Burial was in Lindenwood cemetery.[1307]

Gormley, J.P., 24 September 1887[1350] NELLIE MARGRET MOONEY, born in Ireland about 1846, died at Maple Grove 21 March 1906.[1351]

Charles was a veteran of the Civil War, having served in several regiments including Co. C, 24th N.Y., Cavalry, from 4 January 1864 through 1 July 1864.[1352] As a result of his injuries while in the service, both Charles and his widow were granted pensions.[1353]

While a private in Co. F. of the 81st Regiment of N.Y. Volunteers, he was taken to the hospital at Newport News about 15 April 1862 sick, and sent home. He returned to the regiment at Yorktown, Virginia, 10 November 1862, but was unfit for duty on account of lameness. He continued in the service and on the 29th day of August 1864 in the battle at the Meldan Railroad, Virginia, he was wounded by a minnie ball in his left side that passed out between the left shoulder blade and the spinal column. Charles was sent on 30 August 1864 to the hospital at City Point, Virginia and was eventually sent to Beverly Hospital in New Jersey, which he left in November 1864.[1354] These injuries rendered him unable to work except a small part of the time.

Charles Fall died at his home in Maple Grove last Monday of dropsy, aged 60 years. Funeral was held at the church of God in that town Thursday, Elder Buttler of New Lothrop officiating. Mr. Fall has been a resident of Maple Grove for many years. He leaves a wife and twelve children. Mr. F. was a soldier in the late war.[1355]

Mrs. Nellie Fall died at her home on North Line street Wednesday morning, March 21, after an illness of four months of Bright's disease, at the age of 63 years. She was born in Ireland in 1843, but has made her home in Michigan for the past 40 years. In 1866 she was united in marriage to Charles Fall. She was the mother of 14 children, 10 of whom are living.

The funeral was held at the M.E. church Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment was made in Wildwood.[1356]

Christler, her husband and one son, Herbert, remaining on the farm. Deceased was a member of the Baptist church. The funeral will be held from the Baptist church on Tuesday at 2 p.m. Rev. Marshall will officiate and interment will be made in the Montrose cemetery.[1400]

Montrose, Mich., March 19 - James Falls died at his home in this village on Thursday night at 9 o'clock from hemorrhage of the lungs. He had been sick only a few days. He survived his wife about five weeks, her death having occurred on February 13th, and he leaves a son, Teddy, and a daughter, Mrs. Beulah, with whom he made his home.

Mr. Falls was well known and highly respected here and in Maple Grove township, where he resided for many years before moving to this village. He had rented his farm and had advertised an auction sale of his farming tools and stock. The arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.[1401]

Death has again visited the home of James K. Fall of Montrose. This time it was himself that was called.

James K. Fall was born in Oneida county, N.Y., March 31, 1845, and died at his home in Montrose March 17, 1904, of hemorrhage of the lungs, aged 58 years, 11 months and 16 days, his death occurring but little more than a month from that of his wife. He leaves to mourn their loss two children, one sister and five brothers.

Funeral was held Sunday from the Baptist church in Montrose and he was laid to rest in the same grave with his wife in Montrose cemetery. A large concourse of friends followed him to his last resting place.[1402]

Etta, wife of Duane Falls, passed away last Thursday afternoon at 2:30 after a long illness, aged 69 years. Etta Badgley was born in Chesaning on the farm now occupied by Elmer Blakeslee and family, on June 30, 1854, and passed her girlhood days here. When about 20 years old she was married to Duane Falls and they have always continued their residence near Chesaning. Two years ago she began to have failing health, and gradually grew worse until death came to relieve her.

Besides her husband she leaves one sister, Mrs. Gertrude Dowley, of Battle Creek, who was with her during her last few days, and two brothers, Dean and Gene Badgley, both of Chesaning.

Mrs. Badgley was a woman of many friends and was loved by all who knew her. She belonged to the order of Gleaners. The funeral was held from her late home Sunday afternoon and burial was at the family lot in Wildwood cemetery.[1431]

January 1944[1454]; married at Ottawa Co., Ohio, by A.F. Light, 26 January 1899[1455] JULIET L. WARNER, born in Ohio about 1878, died in 1939.

Death early Wednesday morning claimed one of Port Clinton's better known figures, and a man who long was associated with the Masonic order here as an official, in the person of Amos W. Fall, of west Third street.

Mr. Fall had been in ailing health for several months, but is was only two weeks ago that his condition took a turn for the worse. Early this week he became serious and late Tuesday he was removed to Magruder hospital where death occurred early Wednesday morning.
Mr. Fall was a native of Port Clinton, born here on September 9, 1871. His wife, Juliet Fall, died in 1939.

Surviving to mourn his death besides a large circle of friends, are a daughter, Elizabeth Fall, three sons, Robert W. Fall and Albert Fall, all of Port Clinton, and Amos Fall Jr., of Catawba Island; three sisters, Mrs. Alice Wolf of Lakeside and Mrs. J.N. Washburn, and Miss Josie Fall, both of Port Clinton.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon (Friday) at two o'clock from the Gerner and Wolf funeral home, with Rev. R.S. Linton, of Trinity Methodist church officiating. Burial will be made in the Riverview cemetery here.

Mr. Fall was 71 years of age.

Among the out of town relatives who attended the funeral of Amos W. Fall Jr., Friday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. William Lohiser, Mr. and Mrs. George Sites, Fred Lohis, and Arthur Fall of Cleveland, Atty. and Mrs. Ame Englebeck and daughter Miss Alice of Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Warner of Toledo.[1456]

George Howard Fall, son of George H. and Rebecca G. (Howard) Fall, was born in Malden, Mass., October 19, 1858. He attended the Malden High School and the Boston University, and studied law at the Boston University Law School. He was admitted to the Suffolk bar in August, 1887, and is, or has been, a lecturer in the College of Liberal Arts and in the Boston University Law School. He married, September 17, 1884, Anna Christy, and lives in Malden.[1564]

Anna Christy Fall, daughter of William and Margaret Christy, was born in Chelsea, Mass., April 23, 1855 and was educated at the Chelsea High School and the Boston University. She graduated at the Boston University Law School in 1891, and was admitted to the Suffolk bar January 20, 1891. She married George Howard Fall, September 17, 1844 and lives in Malden where she is now serving a three years term on the School Board.

An extensive obituary appeared in the Malden Evening News on 2 June 1937, in which it was said that Ex-Mayor George H. Fall had died in his sleep. His extensive civil career was praised and his career as a professor at Boston University spanned forty years. He ran for mayor eight times before he was elected, "In fact he finally declared that he proposed to run for mayor until he was elected or died."

Widow Anna Christy Fall also received a lengthy obituary in the Malden Evening News of 13 January 1930, which praised her as a pioneer suffragist who did much to secure the passage in 1902 of the law which gave a mother equal guardianship of her minor children.

Pike.

Funeral services for Mrs. Carrie A. Fall, wife of Clarence H. Fall of 115 Greenwood Ave., who passed away suddenly on Wednesday evening, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Greenwood Union Church. The church was well filled and the Mothers' Wheel, of which Mrs. Fall was the founder, and Mrs. Edward A. Jones' Wheel of which she was a member, attended in a body. Out of deference to Mrs. Fall's known preference, floral tributes had been largely omitted, but there were some pieces of great beauty.
...The bearers were Ervine F. Laughton and Rep. Joseph A. Hines of Greenwood and Marshall Bushnell and Harry Conner of Lexington, formerly of Greenwood. Cremation took place at Harmony Grove Cemetery, Salem, and the final resting place will be in the family lot in Ashby. The Gould Funeral Service was in charge of arrangements.[1676]

Clarence H. Fall of 115 Greenwood Ave, a resident of Greenwood 38 years, passed away early last evening at Melrose Hospital, where he had been a patient the past eight weeks. He was in his 70th year.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock, and relatives and friends are invited. Interment will be in Glenwood Cemetery, Ashby. Friends may call at the Morrison Funeral Home, 13 Yale Ave. tomorrow....

Mr. Fall was born April 1, 1888, in East Boston, the son of William F. and Lucy (Snowdon) Fall. He was a salesman with the Andrew Dutton Company, Boston, 52 years. He was a member of the Greenwood Union Church and of the Greenwood Men's Club.

He is survived by his widow, Grace (Pike); two daughters, Mrs. Arthur C. Jaynes (Aloha) of 4 Pine St., Greenwood, and Clarace C., at home, and a son, Roland E. of Whittier, Cal. There are also seven grandchildren.[1677]

Mrs. Grace (Pike) Fall, widow of Clarence H. Fall of 115 Greenwood Ave., died early Sunday morning at the Middlesex Fells Nursing Home, Melrose, where she had been a resident the last five weeks.

Born on December 2, 1899 in Brentwood, N.H., she was a daughter of Ray and Cornelia (Rushton) Pike.

Mrs. Fall had resided at the Greenwood avenue address for about 25 years and for many years she was a school teacher in the Wakefield Public Schools.

She also taught in the Middleton Schools until her retirement.

She had been a member of the Greenwood Union Church more than 50 years and was an active member of the choir most of her church life.

Mrs. Fall was a member of the Kosmos Club and the Wheel group when it was active.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Richard J. (Clarace) Martin and Mrs. Arthur (Aloha) Jaynes both of Wakefield; a grandson, Keith R. Martin of Wakefield, and two sisters, Helen Pike of Portsmouth, N.H. and Louise Jordan of Woodstock, Conn.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, June 5 at 10 a.m. in the Greenwood Union Church. Calling hours at the Morrison Funeral Home, 13 Yale Ave. are this evening from 7-9 o'clock.[1678] (Goodridge) Dickinson.

Arthur R. Dickinson, well known Corona citizen, and employed in the postoffice department as carrier and clerk for the past seventeen years, was suddenly stricken last night at Laguna Beach, by what is believed to have been a heart attack, and passed away a few minutes later. He had gone to the beach in company with Mrs. Dickinson and two children, late yesterday afternoon, after completing his duties of delivering the mail on rural route No. 2 out of Corona.

Inquest is being held by the Orange county coroner today and the body will be brought to the Hoover mortuary late this afternoon, where funeral arrangements will be made later.

It is thought that over-exertion while swimming in the ocean brought on the sudden heart attack. Mr. Dickinson was an exceptionally good swimmer and delighted in breasting the breakers at the beaches. As he returned to the side of his wife, after swimming for some time, he remarked that the breakers were rougher than usual and had exerted him. Minutes later, he passed away. Two of the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson were with them at the beach at the time. Charles Dickinson, well-known student of Pomona college, had been planning a trip to Europe.

...The deceased was born on October 16, 1881 and joined the Corona postal department on June 15, 1914. He served first as a city carrier, and then as clerk at the office. On December 1, 1927, he was made regular carrier on the rural route. He was a man of many friends, all of whom held him in the highest esteem and who were shocked at the news of his sudden death.

His lodge affiliations were those of the Masonic and Eastern Star of this city, being a past master of the Temescal lodge and a past patron of the Eastern Star. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson were active in lodge work. Their home is at 207 Commercial street, this city.[1695]

A memorial service will be conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. at the First Congregational Church for Mrs. Sadie A. Dickinson, 89, who died yesterday at a local hospital. The Rev. Frederic James will officiate.

Mrs. Dickinson was born April 24, 1884, in Boston. She came to California in 1900 and to the Santa Barbara area in 1942. The widow of Arthur R. Dickinson, she lived at 317 Moreton Bay Lane, in Goleta.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Charlotte D. Elmott of Goleta; five grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Private interment will be at the Sunnyslope Cemetery in Corona.

The McDermott-Crockett Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.[1696]

362. LILLA JANE[7] FALL (Plummer[6], Adoniram[5], Stephen[4-3], Tristram[2], John[1]), born in Georgetown, Mass., 4 August 1876[1]; died in Boston, Mass., 28 June 1931, aged 56 years, 10 months, 24 days, of pernicious anemia with hyperplasia of bone marrow[2]; married first in Georgetown by Jeremiah Ladd, J.P., 28 November 1894[3] ERNEST LINWOOD ABBOTT, shoemaker, born in Groveland, Mass., 27 October 1876, died in Groveland 20 January 1912, aged 41 years, 2 months, 23 days, of pulmonary tuberculosis,[4] son of Alva E. and Sarah E. (Fegan) Abbott; married second in Lynn, Mass., 8 September 1921[5] ORRIS RIONARO, steamfitter at General Electric, born in Italy, in 1885, died in Norfolk, Mass., 7 October 1953, aged 68 years, 6 months, 2 days, of a massive hemorrhage of the lungs,[6] son of Gaetano and Castania P. (Di Messina) Rionaro.

Orris married second Blanche A. Scott.

Lilla Jane Fall was the fourth child of her parents, and one of only three of their seven children to survive to adulthood. Lilla's mother died when Lilla was very small. Lilla's middle name probably came from her grandmother, Mary Jane (Byers) Buckminster.

As of October 1980, Lilla's birthplace and early home at the corner of Union and Library Streets in Georgetown was being renovated by its current owners.

Lilla attended schools in Georgetown and did housework for Mrs. Hardy, who lived on Main Street.

At the age of eighteen, she married Ernest Linwood Abbott, a shoemaker from Groveland, and they had three daughters. Shortly after their marriage, Lilla and her husband moved to Stoneham, Mass., and rented a house at 65 High Street.

At that time, Ernest worked in a shoe factory in nearby Reading and commuted each day with his horse and buggy. During this period, Lilla also made a home for her father, Plummer, her brother, Stephen and her sister, Mary. Later the family moved to 42 Broadway and then to 100 Hancock Street. This final house was a two-family and subsequently, the family moved to the other side, 102 Hancock Street, because it was more pleasant.

During 1911, Ernest developed tuberculosis, and because of the contagious nature of the disease, he went to stay with his mother in Groveland. He traveled to her house by bicycle, a distance of about 16 miles. He died early in 1912.

During the illness of her husband and after his death, Lilla worked as a practical nurse, did housework for others, took in laundry and opened her home to boarders.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Stoneham and was very active in the affairs of the church, especially suppers and related events.

Lilla was an extremely hard working individual, and very reluctant to accept charity. At Thanksgiving time following her husband's illness, the First Baptist Church sent her family a basket of fruit and a chicken. She declined these gifts and suggested that they be given to a less fortunate family.

In 1921 she married Orris Rionaro and moved to an apartment on Summer Street in Lynn. Later, she and Orris purchased a two-family house at 714 Summer Street. She died 28 June 1931, at age 56, from pernicious anemia, and was buried in her family lot at Riverview Cemetery, Groveland, Mass.
